LINDBERGH TO RETURN TO U. S. IN HIS PLANE

Flight Back to Washington Will Not Be Non-Stop, However

MEXICO HONORS FLIER

Lindy Invited To Address Chamber of Deputies in Session Today

Mexico City, Dec. 15—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will fly back to the United States. This time he will make the journey between the two countries in several hops.

These plans were announced today by the "lone eagle" who has become the idol of Mexico, virtually every city having set up a clamor to see famous American flier.

The trip to Cuba still is to be decided upon. If he makes it, Colonel Lindbergh said, it would probably be made out of Washington. He said he had not decided "yet."

Colonel Lindbergh awoke today in the home of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, who took him in hand.

The Mexican House of Deputies, today invited Colonel Lindbergh to speak in the chamber, reading the message he is said to have brought from the American Government.

The city still reverberated today from the lusty "vivas" which acknowledged Colonel Lindbergh with acclaim—the greatest reception ever given a foreigner in the republic.

A special embassy staff recruited today was necessary to handle the flier's telegrams.

Colonel Lindbergh awoke today to find a city still deliriously anxious to shower him with honor and a people

LINDY'S MOTHER DECLINES BID

Detroit, Dec. 15—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh by telegram today declined the invitaton of Ambasasdor Dwight L. Morrow that she spent the holiday season in Mexico City with her famous son.

The telegram said that she would hardly have time and also that she did not believe she should share in any of her son's glory.

"My idea," she told friends, 'is that this is a man's celebration and a woman has no place in it."

SEMI-PRIVATE SERVICES

Representatives of National Government Expected To Come Here

Interment of the bodies of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding in the sepulchre at the memorial tomb which is to be their last resting place will take place next Wednesday, Dec. 21.

Arrangements for the entombment ceremonies, to be held at 12 o'clock noon, are now being made by relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Harding. The services, it was stated, today, will be marked by simplicity and brevity.

Although no definite restrictions or limitations are to be placed on the number of persons attending, it was indicated today by officials of the Harding Memorial Association that it is not the intention nor desire of those in charge of arrangements to encourage the assembling of a large public gathering.

Date Fixed Today

Date for the entombment was fixed this morning following a conference of Hoke Donithen, chairman of the Harding Memorial executive committee, and representatives of E. Elford & Son and the Georgia Marble Co., contracting firms which have charge of construction of the memorial.

The contractors assured Mr. Donithen that work has progressed to the point where it is certain that the sepulchre will be in readiness for the interment services next Wednesday.

Notifies Trustees

Although no definite word has been received, it is expected that representatives of the national government will be here for the services. Today Mr. Donithen sent letters to all trustees of the memorial association, notifying them of arrangements for the entombment and it is regarded as likely that several will be present.

The sepulchre where the bodies will be placed is in the center of the memorial tomb. It is constructed of concrete and will have a covering of the same material over which are to be placed by several layers of marble.

CAR BARNS AT STRATFORD ARE COMPLETE LOSS

Auxiliary Power Station Also Destroyed in Early Morning Blaze

BELIEVED COVERED

Origin of Conflagration Undetermined; Discovered by Employe

Fire of undetermined origin starting in the boiler room early today completely destroyed the auxiliary power station and car barns of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. at Stratford, south of Delaware, entailing a loss estimated at $500,000.

Nine passenger coaches, stored in the barns for the night, were saved by the timely arrival of employes.

That the loss is fairly well covered by insurance was indicated by C. C. Moyer, Delaware superintendent. He said that the company had a blanket policy covering all equipment. The exact coverage could not be ascertained due to the absence of A. F. Van Deinse, president of the company, who is in New York City.

Several adjoining buildings including the company's paint and carpenter shop located north of the car barns were saved by the Delaware Fire Department which responded to a general alarm. A church opposite the car barns likewise was saved by firemen with the use of chemicals.

Discovered by Employe

Late today no plans had been formulated for rebuilding the structures destroyed in the blaze. It was intimated by company officials that the emergency power plant may not be replaced in view of the fact that the Scioto Power plant, south of the city, is equipped for emergency service.

The fire was discovered shortly after 6 o'clock this morning by William Austin, colored employe, on his arrival at the car barns. The boiler room, where the fire is believed to have started, was entirely enveloped in flames when the discovery was made.

Employes living nearby were summoned and a call sent to Delaware. Before the Delaware department arrived the entire main structure was ablaze. Firemen limited their efforts to preventing the flames from spreading to the carpenter and pain shop, the church, and the dwellings of workmen.

The heaviest loss sustained was to

OFFICERS REELECTED FOR TWENTIETH TIME

Pine Lake Outing Club Well Satisfied with Veteran Staff

At least one Marion organization finds complete satisfaction in their elected officers. So it was proved when members of the Pine Lake Outing Club met last night and reelected for the twentieth consecutive year, the original officers of the organization. The meeting was held in the offices of E. E. Bush, E. Center-st.

Fred Haberman, Sr., was chosen president, E. E. Bush, vice president, F. E. Kleinmaier, secretary, and William H. Schaffner, treasurer.

During the summer months the various club members, the membership totaling 16, with their families, spend their vacations at Monnetten Lake Mich., formerly known as "Pine Lake," where for the last 20 years the club has owned a cottage and 28 acres of ground. An annual business meeting is held each fall for the purpose of electing officers.

STATE WOULD OUST REMUS TRIAL JUROR

Contention Made That Admission of Certain Evidence Might Affect Opinion

Courthouse, Cincinnati, Dec. 15—The state at the trial of George Remus for wife-murder today made a move to remove John Trautman, one of the jurors, alleging he would be biased if certain evidence was admitted.

The move to remove the juror came simultaneously with the announcement that the three alienists appointed to observe Remus had submitted an opinion to the court that Remus was sane on Oct. 6 last when he shot and killed his wife.

The text of the report was withheld, while attorneys made arguments with reference to it, the judge merely stating that the alienists' verdict was that Remus was sane.

WATER STILL RISING AT NEWMAN'S BRIDGE

Flood Expected To Reach Crest Today; Prospect-rd Closed to Traffic

With roads covered with water in many places, one being inundated to a depth which makes them impassable, Marion County today was still feeling the effects of the flood which resulted from the heavy rains of several days ago.

County Surveyor Leavens stated today that the road between Newman's and Prospect is still closed.

Although no rain has fallen for more than a day, the Scioto river is still rising at Newman's and is not expected to reach its crest until late this afternoon.

In the northern and western sections of the county, the high point has been reached and rivers and their tributaries are receding to lower levels, it was reported.

Although the Newman's-Prospect-rd is the only one closed, travel is dangerous over several other thoroughfares, the surveyor stated.

Rain is predicted in today's official weather forecast. Should the rainfall continue for any considerable time, the county is likely to face a flood menace of serious proportions, officials in touch with the situation stated today.

33 OTHERS ARE MISSING AFTER ASYLUM BLAZE

Floors of Building Collapse, Trapping Victims in Flaming Wreckage

SISTERS REMAIN CALM

Feats of Heroism Performed; Orphanage Old Historic Landmark

Quebec, Dec. 15—Twenty-six children and one nun are known to have perished and 33 other children are feared to have lost their lives in a fire which completely destroyed the St. Charles Orphan Asylum here early today. The bodies of the nun and 26 children were recovered, and the other 33 are missing.

The floors of the building collapsed and the trapped victims were buried in the flaming wreckage. Firemen were unable to penetrate the smouldering ruins this morning to recover additional bodies.

The building housed 500 children and 40 nuns. Several of the injured were taken to hospitals.

Feats of Heroism

Firemen, police and nuns performed extraordinary feats of heroism in rescuing children from the fire. Under the direction of the nuns, who remained calm in the emergency, many of the children marched out of the building in an orderly manner. Others were carried down ladders to safety before the building collapsed.

The fire started in the basement, police said, gained headway on the second floor and mushroomed through the building.

The flames spread rapidly. The entire staff of the institution was quickly marshalled into a rescue force. The alarm was given by a nun, but many of the children in certain sections of the building found escape cut off. They undoubtedly perished while groping their way through fire and smoke to the stairways and other exits.

Embers Smouldering

The asylum is operated by the Good Shepherd Sisters for children of ages ranging from five to sixteen. All of the children were not orphans. Some were sent there by their parents to be educated.

The fire started shortly after 11 o'clock last night, and the embers were still smouldering this morning.

OHIO RIVER FLOOD CREST IS REACHED

Industrial Plants in Martins Ferry District Forced To Suspend

Martins Ferry, Dec. 15—The crest of the present Ohio River flood was reached at noon today, a stage of 41.5 feet being reported at Wheeling.

The river was reported stationary 30 miles north of here. A number of industrial plants in this section have been forced to suspend operations.

Transportation has been badly crippled. The Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad was forced to suspend service to Cleveland and Toledo yesterday. Roads paralleling the river in eastern Ohio and northern West Virginia are under water and a number of bus companies have temporarily discontinued service.

Transmission of Christmas mail has also been slowed up, creating congestion in the Wheeling postoffice, which is a mail distributing point for a wide area.

"CHEER" SEIZED

Boatload of Liquor, Worth $15,000, Taken After Long Chase

MONROE, Mich., Dec. 15—A boatload of "Christmas cheer" said to be worth $15,000 was in possession of the United States coast guards here today, following a two-mile chase in which one of the alleged "rum runners" was wounded and another captured.

The wounded man, Alfred Raymond, 27, of Toledo, is in a hospital here under heavy guard. His brother, Justine, 30, is held at the Marblehead Coast Guard base.

The boat was a 54-foot tug, and was believed enroute to Toledo. It was said that the liquor came from Canada.

STEAL 25 TREES

Columbus, Dec. 15—Police here today were searching for thieves who are said to have stolen a veritable forest of Christmas trees. There were 25 six-foot trees in the lot, a total value of $50, according to the report made by the owner, John Amicon.

LIQUOR RUNNER IS FINED $500

Ralph Terro, 23, Columbus, Facing Rearrest on Reckless Driving Charge

Paying a fine of $500 and costs and turning over to the city his Buick coach, Ralph Terro, 23, arrested early yesterday morning after the car carrying 175 gallons of liquor he was taking through Marion, crashed into a machine occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Orcutt, Summit-st, at Main and Columbia-sts, settled his case with the city and state but is now faced with possible arrest on a charge of reckless driving or a suit for damages.

Orcutt, who received a broken shoulder blade and severe bruises, said today he was not ready to make a statement regarding any action he might take against Terro, and that the matter will handled by his attorney.

Terro, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal transportation of liquor when arraigned before Judge W. R. Martin in municipal court this morning. He was fined $500 and costs and his car confiscated.

Admits Ownership

Arrested near Newman's bridge shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning, Terro, who told the police he was on his way to Columbus, first represented that the Buick he was driving was the property of Peter Vielali, Columbus. Some doubt of this statement developed when police found a garage receipt in the car which gave Tom Michael, 300 Neal-av, Columbus, as

MOVE TO MAKE PRESTON OIL CO. DEFENDANT

Counsel for Marion and Other Cities Act in Logan Gas Action

WEISS ON STAND TODAY

Rate Expert's Testimony Expected To Feature Commission's Session

Testimony of W. H. Weiss, Cincinnati rate expert, is scheduled to feature the hearing at Columbus this afternoon before the State Utilities Commission relative to protests against the request of the Logan Gas Co. that the commission approve increases in rates for the company's natural gas service.

Weiss, employed on behalf of the state and about 30 protesting municipalities, including, Marion, villages and rural districts, recently inspected the properties of the Logan Gas Company and placed a valuation, for ratemaking purposes, upon them of $24,800,000.

Witnesses placed on the stand this morning by the company included T. H. Gregory of Pittsburgh, expert on leasehold values, and E. G. Hill, New York City, an appraisal engineer. They testified in support of various phases of the company's inventory which embodies a valuation of approximately $50,000,000 for rate-making purposes.

Consider Motion

The commission today had under consideration a motion by counsel for the protestants that the Preston Oil Co., with headquarters at Columbus, be designated as a party defendant along with the Logan Gas Co.

The purpose of this motion, it was indicated, was to show that the Preston concern has been receiving free from the Logan Gas Co., gasoline extracted from the gas, that the gasoline thus received by the Preston company annually was worth from $150,000 to $250,000, and that officials of both companies were the same persons.

Gregory's testimony supported a valuation of approximately $14,000,000 by the Logan Gas Co. of its leaseholds. Counsel for the protestants contended these leaseholds should not be valued in excess of about $2,000,000.

Harold Eccs, an accountant for the Logan Gas Co., testified concerning cer-

Payments were about evenly divided between the city and rural districts, the records showed.

Fostoria Carbon Company Plant Partly Demolished by Explosion

Fostoria, Dec. 15—Mike Sekerak, 35, is dead today and three other men were in a hospital seriously burned, but expected to recover, as the result of an explosion of gas which partly demolished the factory of the National Carbon Co. here late yesterday.

The damage was estimated at about $8,000. Although the cause of the explosion has not yet been definitely determined, it is believed due to a leaky main.

The explosion occurred in a service tunnel. Sekerak was working on a ladder and was thrown to the floor. John Davis of Cleveland was thrown about 20 feet, and Floyd Koutture and Edward Ryan, both of Toledo, were also injured.

President Coolidge dispatched the following reply:

"I am deeply gratified by your excellency's cordial message of congratulation on the occasion of the successful completion of Colonel Lindbergh's historic flight which I sincerely trust may serve to unite more closely our two nations."

Secretary Kellog and Mexican Ambassador Tellez also exchanged messages of felicitation over the successful flight of Colonel Lindbergh.

American Girl Wonderful, Asserts Senorita Calles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—The modern American girl, for all her swagger, dash and daring, is the most wonderful institution in our gay republic, in the eyes of pretty Senorita Alicia Elias Calles, daughter of President Calles of Mexico, who is visiting the capital for the first time.

Diminutive and demure, her shiny black bobbed hair parted sharply in the middle and dressed tightly over the ears, the 16-year-old senorita gives the impression of being at liberty today only because Flo Ziegfeld has never seen her.

"All America, I find irresistibly fascinating," said Senorita Calles. "You hurry so! But you have such a grand time of it all!

"Your women, they are so lovely! They are absolutely fearless, are they not?"

"Absolutely," assented the interviewer hurriedly.

"And they have so much energy: they are so—how do you call it—vivacious!"

"We call it 'it'", the reporter ventured.

"However you call it, they are lovely," Senorita Calles persisted. "American women today are the leaders of the world. Women everywhere aspire to attain the same relative position in political affairs, in education, in business and in civic enterprises."

Senorita Calles attended a convent in California for two years where she learned to speak captivating English, but she has never before visited the capital.

"It is the most beautiful city!" she said enthusiastically at the White House, where she called to meet President Coolidge.

Billion Dollars Turned Over By U. S. in One Day

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Uncle Sam turned over about $1,202,000,000 today in one of the biggest financial operations in governmental history.

Into the Treasury flowed about $781,000,000 while expenses were close to $422,000,000.

Secretary Mellon must get enough cash to retire $335,709,000 in bonds, pay $75,000,000 interest on the public debt, and meet general expenses of the entire government until next March.

To meet this tremendous demand for money the proceeds of a $67,575,000 one-year bond issue, income tax receipts amounting to probably $431,000,000, $96,000,000 from foreign governments and other incidental funds were paid to the government during the day.

The December installment of taxes on 1926 incomes was due today. Since the taxes are paid to collectors of internal revenue, principally by check, the actual cash in its route thru the Federal Reserve Banks does not acctually reach the treasury for several days.

The public debt will be reduced automatically about $171,709,000 as a result of the day's operations, leaving the reduction so far in 1927 about $1,100,000,000. The new issue of certificates was $75,000,000 less than the maturing block of obligations, while most of the proceeds from foreign war loans went to debt retirement.

Delaware, Dec. 15—A good Christmas dinner with turkey for a normal healthy family of five will cost approximately $9.50 this year, says Miss Bertha M. Clear tomato soup, roast turkey, mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, buttered peas, baked squash, cranberry jelly, celery, olives, fruit salad on lettuce, saltines, plum pudding, nuts, coffee and mints.

Miss Titsworth's grocery list for this dinner includes the following items at current prices: 8 lb. turkey $5.20, 2 loaves bread 20c, 1 can tomatoes 20c, 2½ lbs. potatoes 10c, 4 lb. squash 20c, lean peas 25c, 1 pt. cranberries 22c, 2 bunches celery 20c, 1 head lettuce 15c, 1 bottle olives 25c, 1 pt. heavy cream 48c, 2 qt. milk 24c, 1 lb. butter 50c, 1 lb. sugar 7c, ½ lb. nuts mixed shelled 30c, ¾ lb. mints 30c, and the following ingredients for the plum pudding costing a total of $1.20, ½ lb. suet, 1 lb. apples, 1 lb. brown sugar, ¼ lb. dates of figs and dates, ¼ lb. plums, ½ lb. citron, and 2 eggs.

Here's Lower Cost

A bountiful and dainty Christmas dinner may be had at a much lower cost, however, and Miss Titsworth suggests the following menu which may be prepared at a cost of approximately $2.50 for the family of five:

Fricassee of rabbit with biscuit, stuffed baked potato, string beans, cranberry jelly, pineapple and cabbage salad on lettuce, vegetable + steamed pudding and whipped cream.

The grocery list and prices for this dinner include: 2 rabbits 90c, 2 lb. potatoes 8c, 1 can string beans 22c, 1 small can pineapple 18c, 1 lb cabbage 4c, 1 egg for salad dressing 5c, ½ head lettuce 7c, 1 qt. milk 13c, ½ lb. butter 28c, 1 pt. cranberries 22c, 1 lb. sugar 8c 1 lb. flour 4c, ¼ pt. cream for pudding 12c, and the following additional ingredients for the vegetable steamed pudding costing a total of 12c: 1 large cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 round teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon 1 teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 cup raw carrot, and 1 cup raw potato.

"The danger of holiday eating is that people are very apt to overeat with the result that they are drowsy, irritable, and inactive, is the warning which the Ohio Wesleyan home economics head furnishes with her Christmas menus.

Remus Proving Bull in China Shop At Own Murder Trial

EFENDANTIN D WITH ALL

...ds Judge, Crosses Co-...nsel, Antagonizes Prose-...tion and Defies Bailiff

...th, Dec. 15—George Remus ...ll in the china shop at his ...r trial.

...ffended the judge. He's un-...ed sentence for contempt of ...e has antagonized the prose-...d been threatened with a fist ...e crossed his co-counsel so ...are at loggerheads. He has ...bailiffs, and they are ready ...on him.

...atrical ex-bootleg king again ...red flag, or goes on one more ...ge, he probably will be ordered by Judge Chester R. Shook to cease being one of his own lawyers and just sit in the prisoner's dock the "dee-fen-dent" that he calls himself.

So far, when it came to matters of defense policy, Judge Shook has literally "let George do it."

Jury His Solace

But another catch phrase is starting to permeate the courtroom these closing days of the trial.

"It won't be long now."

What little solace Mr. Remus entertains today in view of the predicament his firebrand tactics have got him into, is the jury.

They are his friends, or at least, he thinks so.

Squelched for the time being at least, he spends a lot of time furtively eyeing the jury, smiling at them—and getting smiles in return. He likes the jury. He makes no secret of it. He wants them to know it.

Exchange Confidences

When something strikes him as comical, he glances into the faces of the 11 men and two women in the jury box to see if they "get" the joke. Very often they do. Their smiles and giggles show it.

Mrs. Ruth Cross, the pretty 22-year-old juror is an adept at catching these humorous sidelights in the amazing melodrama that is unfolding in criminal court. So are some of the elderly gentlemen sitting in the box with her. The jury is like a big family and they exchange little confidences each dragging hour of the trial.

If they are getting any "kick" out of the trial, it is obvious Remus is giving it to them. He has been a great showman, and, like everybody else, they are wondering what he will do next.

The bull in the china shop has not broken all the glassware yet. Wait till he reads that 20,000-word hypothetical question.

"You break it — we fix it." Marion Welding Co., 152 Oak-st.—Adv.

ODD FELLOWS HOLD FINAL 1927 MEETING

Officers Installed and Prizes in Attendance Contest Awarded at Session

Installation of officers elected for 1928 and presentation of prizes in an attendance contest held during 1927 took place at the final meeting of this year held last night by the Marion County Odd Fellows Association at the I. O. O. F. hall on N. Main-st.

First honors for the highest attendance percentage of the year went to Salt Rock Lodge of Morral, with Green Camp lodge second and Day Lodge of LaRue, third. Cash prizes were presented to these three lodges at last night's meeting by Earl Brewer of Harpster, representative of the Wyandot county district.

New Officers

The new officers were installed by T. E. Bolander, representative for the Marion County district. They are David Kale of Agosta, member of Day Lodge of LaRue, president; J. E. Bricker of Green Camp, vice president and Leo Patton of Marion, secretary-treasurer.

A special program of entertainment planned for the occasion was featured by a play portraying Odd Fellows' lodge proceedings, presented by members of Green Camp Lodge.

It was announced that the program committee to be appointed for 1928 will meet within the next few weeks to outline a schedule of county meetings for the year. The committee will consist of representatives of all lodges in the county.

A social session and lunch followed the business meeting with members of Kosciusko and Wayside lodges of Marion acting as hosts.

MISTLETOE KISSES TO BE SCARCE HERE

Supply of Sprigs Short This Year; None To Be Sold in Marion

The gay old boy who, hovering around the mistletoe each Christmas, obtains his annual allotment of kisses from the girls, and the maiden lady of uncertain age who pinned her hopes on the liberties inspired by the sprig of little white berries, will each have to find some other method of inducement this year as there will be no mistletoe on sale in Marion.

A survey of the stores made yesterday, revealed the fact that local dealers do not expect to have any of the romantic berries this year, due to a shortage. The Texas linden, poplar, oak and swamp trees on which it lives have produced only three-fourths as much as usual, dealers say, and the price has jumped from $6.50 to $7.50 for a 25 pound crate.

Most of this country's mistletoe comes from Texas. Seaboard cities import mistletoe from abroad and it is expected the deficiency in the Texas crop will be made up from European countries.

A shortage in holly also is reported by New York dealers who say the price has leaped from $4.50 for a 60 pound crate in 1926 to $6 this year. Local markets are selling holly at 45 cents a pound and 35 cents for the wreaths.

Address of Former Marion Man Appears in Magazine

...s address delivered by C. R. Huntress, former secretary of the Marion ... of Commerce, at the All-Ohio ... Congress held in Columbus on ... appears as the leading article in the last issue of "The Black Diamond," a national coal industry magazine published at Chicago. The address, which has as its subject, "The Biggest Job in the World," was one of the principal features of the safety congress program.

Huntress, who was the first secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, is now assistant to the executive secretary of the National Coal Association with headquarters in Washington.

"From every standpoint and with every industry, the job of reducing the accident rate is the biggest task on the calendar, and this will be the case to the end of time," Huntress declares in the opening sentence of his discussion.

Cites Accidents

He points out that more than 20,000 lives were lost in this country last year in accidents of all kinds and of this number 20,000 were industrial mishaps.

"It is estimated," Huntress says, "that approximately 90 per cent of all coal mine accidents are due to carelessness. This estimate, as far as Alabama operations is concerned, has been established by definite records as correct."

In closing his address, he said: "The question resolves itself into an obligation on the part of mine management to act as the dynamo for a continuing safety effort of increasing effect. Inspiration and new ideas must ever be forthcoming. There's nothing in the safety game resembling a cut-and-dried pattern. Unless there be a steady flow of inspiration and new ideas the best of safety plans and systems suffer from the chill of indifference. The cause must be a living thing in the life of every operator, and intelligently directed. It will then become a living purpose on the part of every miner, and successfully prosecuted."

Fifteen local business men, all former associates of Huntress during his term of service as chamber of commerce secretary here, attended the safety congress to hear his address.

CLEVELAND BOASTS CHAMPION LINGUIST

Librarian Knows 80 Tongues; Now Classifying Collection of Books

Cleveland, Dec. 15.—Cleveland boasts of the champion linguist.

W. E. Sommer, language expert, who is classifying the John G. White collection of the public library is familiar with no less than 80 tongues.

Sommer, who was born in Speyer, on the German Rhine, 37 years ago, admits that he knows so many languages that he can't keep track of them. There is no language in Europe, and few dialects, that he doesn't read, write and speak. He is equally at home in the Orient, for he knows all of the important tongus used in both the Near and Far East.

The story of his life is like a book on adventure and travel. He graduated from Commercial Acadmy of Antwerp, Belgium, in 1912. He then went to Russia, where he was employed by international firms. The outbreak of the lat war found him with the Swedish Red Cross. He worked on the staff of the German, American and finally ended with the International Red Cross.

In addition to knowing all the major European, Asiatic and African languages and dialects, here are a few that the list of 80 includes: Alfurese, spoken in Malay; Basque; Badjue; Buginese; Ewe, and African dialect; Gujarati, from India; Igataic, from Turkey; Kusai, from the Oceanic Islands; Oshindonga; Oriya, Pali, Prakrit Santhali Tamil, Telugu, Urdu, from India; Ponabe, which is Oceanic; and Uiguric, and a Turkish tongue.

BOOKS ARE ORDERED

About 75 new books of a varied nature have been ordered for the Harding High School library and will be placed on the library shelves at the opening of the second semester of school. The new books include biographies, fiction, references books for the science department and sophomore history students, and histories, it was announced today by Miss Etta Jacobr, school librarian. The first order of books this year were all reference volumes.

LOCAL LAW FIRM IS DAMAGE SUIT WINNER

Jury in Federal Court Gives Client of Marion Attorneys $10,000

The law firm of Carhart & Warner yesterday received word from Toledo that it had scored a victory there in federal court in the damage suit of Audrey Glass, Van Wert, O., against the Wabash Railroad.

Verdict of the jury in reporting to Judge Killitts, the presiding court official, late Tuesday night was for $10,000 damages. The amount sought in the action by the plaintiff represented by the local firm was $50,000.

The action grew out of a fatal crossing crash at Winter-st, Ft. Wayne, Ind., intersection with the Wabash Railroad in November, 1926. One person was killed when a Wabash train struck an automobile in which the plaintiff was riding. The plaintiff sustained serious injuries including the loss of an ear, a fractured arm and a fractured shoulder blade.

Gates Failed, Claimed

Testimony in the case revealed that at the time of the accident, the gates which protected the crossing, failed to function properly. It was said that the car was "trapped" on the crossing by the gates, the one nearest the approaching automobile failing to lower and the other barring the machine's escape from the oncoming train.

Attorney Fred Warner of the firm of Carhart & Warner handled the prosecution of the case while the Wabash was represented by the firm of Smith, Clevenger & Brown of Toledo.

Attorneys for the railroad filed a motion for a new trial.

Ritzy Rosey

When Ritzy Rosey trips the light fantastic, golden strands will sway to and fro—perhaps to the strains of "My Blue Heaven." No the golden strands aren't those upon her head but those in the form of long tassels that dangle from slave bracelets worn at the elbow and knee. It seems that Lavelon is responsible for this odd whim.

Lindbergh's Hold on the Public.

The place Colonel Lindbergh holds in the honor, esteem and affection of the American people was twice demonstrated here in Marion Wednesday—first by the deep concern manifested when it became known that he was an hour or two overdue at his destination and that nothing definite was known as to his whereabouts and again by the satisfaction and relief expressed when it became known through the medium of the Star that he had landed at Valbuena aerodrome just outside Mexico City. And the feeling here shown, the wires tell us, was manifested throughout the country.

The aerial flights of Lindbergh have amazed the world. Though his record was one which should have attracted attention, he was little known here in America till he made his spectacular one-stop flight across the continent with seemingly absolute unconcern. The world at large did not know of him till he made his magnificent flight to Paris, the precision of which made it the outstanding aerial feat of the ages. Since that epochal flight he has flown thousands upon thousands of miles here at home and abroad, till we have begun to take his successful flights as matters of course. And hence when he hopped off for Mexico City, something over 2,100 miles away, we naturally assumed that in twenty-four hours, the estimated time—we would hear of his safe arrival in Mexico. But when twenty-five hours had passed and his position was unknown, we began to worry, and in another hour we were suffering from apprehension that harm had befallen him. The tension was awful, the relief was great.

At the time of Lindbergh's return home from Europe we expressed the hope that he would place the Spirit of St. Louis in the Smithsonian institution and give up flying. Not only by his aerial feats, but also in almost every other way, he has demonstrated that he is a man far out of the ordinary; a man whose ability is too great to chance risking his loss to the country on such flights as he has been making. By his flight to Paris, by his flights here at home since his return and by his flight to Mexico City, he has done enough as a demonstrator. Hereafter, we hope, he will confine his talents to the scientific and mechanical development of aviation.

After a trip across our continent and the awful strain of a 3,600-mile flight to Paris and a 2,100-mile flight to Mexico City, without considering other flights totaling thousands of miles, is it not about time to retire the Spirit of St. Louis? Hasn't the superb motor of that half of "We" done about enough?

A Far-Reaching Decision.

There can be no question but what the United States supreme court has decidedly complicated the enforcement of the Volstead law by its unanimous decision of this week placing the burden of the execution of that measure squarely up to the federal government.

The decision was reached in the case of two men arrested near the Canadian border by New York state troopers and the seizure, without a search warrant or other authority of the federal government to assist in the enforcement of the national prohibition law, of the liquor found in the automobile of the two.

The court held that the Volstead law does not impose on state authorities the obligation to make arrests and seizures in connection with the illegal transportation of liquor, that duty being imposed by the law on federal officers only. The decision does not estop state officers from enforcing state prohibition laws, and there may be cooperation between federal and state officers in the enforcement of the Volstead law, but such cooperation must be limited to such assistance as state officers can render to federal officers who are actually engaged in enforcing the law in the case in which such cooperation by state officers is rendered. The decision, of course, applies to private citizens, who may illegally secure evidence for the use of federal officers, the same as to the state officers in this New York case.

In forty-four of the states of the union there are prohibition laws under which state officers may make arrests and secure evidence which may subsequently be used by federal officers. By way of illustration, had the arrest and seizure made by the New York state troopers been made here in Ohio by Ohio officers the evidence secured—the liquor found in the automobile—could have been used by federal officers in prosecuting the offenders. But in New York state there isn't any state enforcement law, that state having repealed its enforcement statute. This also is true of Montana and Nevada, and Maryland never had any enforcement measure. Thus in these four states, Volstead enforcement is wholly dependent upon federal agencies.

From a dry viewpoint, the most unfortunate phase of the situation produced by the supreme court's decision is that there is no telling how far-reaching the decision may prove. If its effect would remain limited to the four states named, the situation would not be so bad, but it may work to the putting of the entire question of prohibition up to the people of the various states, and the result in some of them on popular vote may not be what it was when it depended upon ratification by the general assemblies of such states. It is not improbable—in fact, it is probable—that the wets, in those states in which they believe they have popular majorities, will inaugurate campaigns to repeal such dray enforcement laws as they may have. In other words, it is possible that what has been accomplished by the wets in New York, Montana and Nevada may be accomplished by them in some of the other forty-four states which have enforcement laws.

There can be little question but what the supreme court's decision will encourage the wets to make endeavors to this end, and if success should be attained by them in but a fair proportion of such states it could not be other than a heavy blow to the federal prohibition law, for gloss over such a situation as we might, it would leave the country spotted all over, part dry and part wet, which would be bound to aid the fight the "personal liberty" crowd is making against the Volstead law.

We do not for a minute believe that any great proportion of the states would even so much as contemplate a return to the open saloon and legalized wetness, but we can conceive how some of them might so vote for the repeal of state enforcement provisions as to afford aid and comfort to those seeking modification of the Volstead law.

In a word, the decision may work to undo all that has been accomplished in a national way for the cause of prohibition.

Apropos of the case of Velma West, it strikes us that, when a woman kills her husband in order that she may attend a bridge party, she's carrying bridge enthusiasm too far.

Senator Capper says "the great difficulty faced by the American farmer is that he buys his supplies in an American tariff-protected market and sells his products in a cheap world market." As an evidence of good faith Arthur should give us the address of that cheap market for farm products. We've been hunting for it for some years now just to see what it's like.

Streets, basements and cellars in many sections of Akron were flooded by a downpour Tuesday, the city's transportation service was crippled and many were compelled to move out of the lower sections. Marion isn't alone as a sufferer from storm water. As a matter of fact, there probably isn't a city in Ohio immune from damage of that kind.

Nothing doing! That, in effect, is the answer of President Coolidge to the appeal of the 295 signers to the communication asking him to bring about a resumption of negotiations for the entrance of the United States into the World court. We thought Mr. Coolidge would be able to recognize propaganda when he saw it.

Through her mother, a California girl of twenty has sued Harry Thaw for $100,000 for alleged breach of promise, alleging that Thaw won her heart during five evenings she spent with him at Laguna Beach, California, in May of 1923, at which time court records show he was confined in the Pennsylvania state hospital for the insane. May we take this to indicate that sometimes it's lucky to be crazy?

The resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is demanded by Senator Heflin because of the break in cotton prices following issuance of a department price estimate; the senator, taking advantage of the immunity which is his as a member of the senate, expressing the belief that Jardine "got money for his betrayal of the cotton producers." Fatigue an Enemy.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Fatigue is the cause of more battles than have accompanied all the wars of history. Fortunately most of those battles have been bloodless. The ammunition has been disagreeable words, not bullets. But such battles have been fatal to happiness and domestic harmony. They have driven children from home and many a person to crime.

Good nature, readiness to discuss quietly a debatable question, and general amiability are involved in this question. You can not have these qualities in a person who is worn out from worry or hard work. Fatigue is fatal to them.

The most trying time in any man's life is between the hours of 4 and 7 in the afternoon. He is worn out from his day's work. He is cross and irritable. He is bound to be crusty and snappy. Even though he is gentleman enough to hide his real feelings, he is in a dangerous mood.

Any woman who has worked till her back aches and her head is bursting, is close to an explosion of temper and harsh words. An outburst now might destroy a home.

Many a child is fretful and tearful, cross and disagreeable—symptoms due wholly to over-fatigue. The atmosphere of peace and quiet is destroyed by the poor child becoming over-tired.

To give way to temper and to do so habitually is to invite disease. The nervous system is undermined, the digestion is disturbed, and the health is impaired.

The already overtaxed child is whipped for his bad manners. The disposition is ruined by repeated punishments.

The demands of the modern school exhaust the energies of the pupil. The parent must give due regard to this fact in dealing with a worn out child.

Over fatigue leads to restless sleep, bad dreams, and unrefreshing slumber. It lessens the appetite. It leads to the temptation of taking stimulants and other drugs.

Business men, housewives, and all others who can control their own movements should so order their affairs that periods of relaxation give opportunity for rest and refreshment. Employers of labor, teachers, office directors and all who control the activities of others, should be merciful in the arrangement of work schedules. Rest and recreation periods should be provided.

These suggestions make for better workmanship. There will be a greater output of satisfactory work if those who labor are not broken down by fatigue. The accidents on the streets and in the shops are more frequent at the end of the day. Fatigue lessens the mental alertness and the physical reactions.

You should guard against excessive tiredness. It is indecent to be lazy, but, if you can help it, it is wicked to be tired all the time.

Editorial Comment.

ENEMIES OF THEIR OWN CAUSE.

Perhaps Stanley High of the Methodist Episcopal board of foreign missions took a rather extreme view of the immediate prospect when he warned the Anti-Saloon league heads that growing resentment among the youth of the country over the league's methods will "undoubtedly sweep a wet congress into power in the near future." Nevertheless there is considerable warrant for what Mr. High said. Growing feeling against the Anti-Saloon league because of certain of its methods is unquestionably hurting the prohibition cause in America, and probably is being reflected in the congressional elections. We think it is within the fact to say that election to the national legislature on an out-and-out dry platform is becoming a more and more difficult feat throughout the country as a whole, and that this situation has been created by some of the methods the league has been employing. There is substantial basis for Mr. High's assertion that prohibition's greatest menace is the "intolerance, hypocrisy and bunk" in the league's program.

If, instead of resenting and contradicting a friendly warning from a man who is in a position to know something about sentiment among the young people of the United States, the league heads and policy makers will take Mr. High's words to heart and profit by them, they will be performing a valuable service to their organization and to the cause it represents. The people of the United States have their limitations, but they are handy at distinguishing between what is genuine and what is spurious when they really address themselves to the task. And they are never going to be roused to enthusiasm over prohibition by advocates who have a tendency to subject to abuse and misrepresentation any person that disagrees with them, who confuse invective and argument, and who make statements regarding the actual condition of things in this country which are glaringly inaccurate and falsely colored. It is true the bad effect of that sort of thing is partly neutralized because there are wet organizations which use quite as extreme and reprehensible methods on the other side, but that is no reason why the league should be so foolish as to employ them.—Detroit Free Press.

NEW LABOR TACTICS.

"Revolutionary" may be too strong a term to apply to the new policy adopted by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor; but the announced purpose implies a change of strategy which is creditable to that body and reassuring to the public.

Hitherto the introduction of improved methods of manufacture has been the signal for arbitrary wage demands backed by strike threats. Henceforth the strike feature will be subordinated, and the demands will be based instead upon carefully prepared statistical studies of costs and profits. The idea is that when the employer presents his cost and production sheets in refusing a wage demand, his arguments will be combated by data of the same nature, taken from government reports on industries. Labor will thus raise the question "whether its share of the national income is equitable," and deal with each case upon that basis.

This step towards more rational methods of settling industrial disputes recommends itself. The old method of determining economic questions by a conflict of endurance between the contending parties is damaging to labor, to the industrial employer, and, above all, to the public, the innocent third party in such controversies. By adopting a system under which judgment shall be sought upon the facts, instead of through force, the federation offers a constructive program which should make a strong appeal to public confidence.—Philadelphia Record.

Nancy's Laugh Producer.

"Ladies, you must not smoke," said Viscountess Astor, thereby demonstrating that in order to raise a general laugh an after-dinner speech need not necessarily be humorous.—Washington Star.

Vagrant Verse.

SUPERCILIOUS HUMAN.

The rain dropping lightly,
The sun shining brightly,
Arrive in the year's mighty plan.
We blame or extol them,
But can not control them.
We just do the best that we can.

Man thinks he's a wonder,
With lightning and thunder
Brought under restraint by his plan.
Of the world and its glory
He tells the old story—
"It's doing the best that it can."

Of conquest we chatter—
Such has been the matter
For discourse since life first began.
The world rolls securely,
A man says, demurely,
"It's doing the best that it can!"

And still we are hearing
The strange voices nearing
That tell of the manners of man.
Mysterious forces,
In infinite courses,
Say, "He's doing the best that he can."

—Philander Johnson.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Henry Ford makes a wise observation when he says that work is a cure for war. Any nation which is as busy as America is not likely to get into war. Unemployment and idleness breed revolution and war. Work is the best tonic for nations, as it is for individuals. The brain and the body were meant for activity. Idleness is an unnatural state.

Play may not be doing you any good. It depends on how you do it. If you play bridge for high stakes and take the game very seriously you are using up as much nervous energy as in hard work. Golf, tennis, and all other games can be played so long and hard and taken so seriously that they do not furnish recreation. Play has to do with the mind as well as the body. If we can not relax in play we might as well stay at work.

A rich man, leaving a large sum of money, says in his will that the "class most worthy of help is that composed of girls who are earning their own living."

He reasons strangely. Girls who are not earning their own living are getting less out of life and need help more. Girls who earn their own living are independent. Too bad that great bequests can not be made in the form of ambition and opportunity. With plenty of ambition and opportunity money becomes an incidental.

Glib talkers may have doorknob heads. Somebody is always ready to run down churches—to say the church has failed. Last year the good-will industries of one church—the Methodist—sold more than $1,700,000 worth of mended furniture and paid the bulk of the money to the deaf and dumb, the blind and crippled, and the industrial misfits who worked in its shops.

We seem doomed to hear the most criticism from those who know least what they are talking about.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Dec. 15—Lindy's is typical, I suppose, of innumerable little cafes that add zest and sociability to the life of Broadway. It is known as a theatrical eating-place. All such restaurants have a kaleidoscopic coloring that only the White Way can bestow.

They have taken the place of the old-time bar as a rendezvous. Here will be found the loud vaudevillian, the booking agent, the chorus girl, the star, the leading man, a few petty grafters and perhaps an erring lady or so. All the artificialities are strikingly etched.

It is Broadway at its windiest. Out of the conversational medley boom such phrases as "we panicked 'em in Scranton," "I told him top billing or tear up the contract," "Belasco sent his scout around," "We took seven bows" and "I made 'em cry out loud."

To Broadway many of them are known as "incurable hams," yet I know of no human gathering offering such sparkling chit-chat. Some of it is Rabelaisian, of course, but as a whole it offers a hopeful philosophy of life that has not been gained by many noted savants.

There is that fellowship, perhaps false, but pleasant, encompassed in such salutations as "Hello big boy!" "Howdy pal" and "There's the boy friend." There is back-slapping and blustor, sidewalk smart cracks and an incessant kidding of amiable waiters.

The fare is composed of "he-food." Steaks touched up with garlic, beef flanken, chicken stews with matzah balls, huge red and green peppers, generous slices of open-faced pie and big cups of coffee with a wallop. And there are no special concessions to table etiquette.

The proprietors are beaming gentlemen who stand in doorways greeting patrons. Their trade is strictly cash, but they are the sort who help many "at liberty" over lean days and say nothing. These places offer more for the money than many designated as smart.

A whinnying grandame with a lorgnette swept down a theater aisle in the middle of a tense first act and waited for people to rise so she could take her seat. After a wait, she clasped her hands for an usher.

"I have paid for this seat," she exclaimed in a grand manner, "and I propose to have it."

"Give the old buzzard her roost," drawled a voice in the gallery.

The orange drink stands which droop in the winter are now turning an honest penny with the modus operandi of the wayside hitches along the road in summer time. They are selling the succulent and steaming hot dog and the innovation is proving so popular many are achieving their warm-weather opulence. During the past week I have seen such flaneurs as George White, Robert Garland, William Lengel, Rube Goldberg and Ed Wynne standing up at the counter to enjoy the tooth some delicacy. If there is anything that touches the spot of a hungry man like a well built hot dog I would walk more than a mile for it.

An intrepid restaurateur is shortly to launch a la-de-dah idea that has frequently met a frosty reception. He is to open a cafe seating something like 200 people, and full evening dress will be obligatory. Not even the popular dinner jacket will be admitted beyond the silken rope. He believes the truly fastidious will wear only full dress, and there are enough of them to keep a fancy place like this going. It is possible he is right. I know they are not going to catch me again. I was one of the leading hooters when the first $30,000 a year apartment with private hallway was opened. Now they are as common as commuters in the Grand Central station.

Oberammergau.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Once every ten years there is presented in the little German village of Oberammergau the great "Passion" play. The event attracts world-wide interest, for not only is the play itself a thing of surprising beauty, but the excellence of its performance is indeed a thing at which to marvel.

Through the long ten years the people of the village rehearse their parts in the play and there is no one, from the smallest child to the oldest man, who has not some place in the performance.

In order to keep themselves in practice, the people give each spring a series of folk plays, miracle plays and so on, supposedly for themselves alone. But people from all over flock to see the entertainment, and all will attest to its excellence.

Through the long winter evenings, the people meet in their practice theater and rehearse both for the great "Passion" play and for the annual festival. And every one of the entire village has his part; if not as an actor then in the chorus, for the beautiful singing is an important adjunct.

Indeed, the interest in these proceedings is so intense that no discipline among the children is necessary, order being kept by the simple threat of not permitting a wayward child to take part in the performance.

But the people of Oberammergau are not only histrionically talented. They are artists as well. They are world-famous for their exquisite wood-carvings, which are exported and sold all over the world. The mastery of this art is considered as necessary to education as is simple reading, writing and 'rithmetic.—Copyright, 1927.

"He is," answered Farmer Corntossel. "He has invented a college yell that the dictionary knows nothing about. If you want to know what it means, you gotta ask Josh; and even then he probably won't have time to explain it."

Defense Counsel Expected To Spring Surprise Play in Zillick Robbery Trial

Court Circles Buzz with Expectancy in Hearing at Bucyrus as Attorneys Prepare To Frame Satisfatory Alibi

(Special to The Star)

Bucyrus, Dec. 15—Court circles buzzed with expectancy here at noon today when it appeared that the defense counsel for Harry Zillick, Toledo, on trial for bank robbery, will likely put on a "surprise" witness on the stand or introduce new testimony designed to frame a satisfactory alibi for the defendant.

Without an apparent bearing or relation to previous testimony, Edna Patterson, teller in the Toledo Dime Savings Bank, took the stand this morning and testified that a deposit of $45 had been made on the account of Florence Carder of Toledo at the bank on June 28, last. She identified a deposit slip and other bank records of the deposit. Under cross examination, she was unable to relate who had made the deposit and the hour of the transaction.

Further Testimony

June 28 was the date of the $175,000 Galion Commercial Savings Bank holdup in which Zillick is accused of participating. Florence Carder, it was said, is reported to be an acquaintance of Wilbur Hand, Toledo, who has been convicted of participation in the holdup and is now at freedom under bond awaiting disposition of his case in the court of appeals.

It was generally felt that further testimony will be presented with relation to the $45 bank deposit. It is possible that Florence Carder may take the stand as a "surprise" defense witness or that depositions bearing on the incident may be presented.

The state still held a clean record for winning legal contentions in the trial today after a mixup when the defense put E. B. Beall, cashier and vice president of the Galion bank on the witness stand. Beall figured as a key witness in the Hand trial some weeks ago but had not been subpenaed by the state for the present case. He was called to the stand this morning by the defense. Cross examination was attempted by the defense and the state objected. After wrangling of the attorneys, Judge Walter Wright ruled that the defense was limited to only direct examination of its witnesses. Beall had just started relating his experiences at the time of the bank holdup when court adjourned for lunch. He was to take the stand again this afternoon.

It was expected that the defense will not be prepared to rest its case before some time Friday. The state rested yesterday afternoon after Curtis Tracht, assistant bank cashier, of Galion had testified.

Six Testify

Six witnesses testified for the defense yesterday. Mrs. Mary Lockhart, Toledo, who operates a garage and taxi line, was the first to take the stand. Her testimony that Wilbur Hand and Harry Zillick, outfitted in golf togs, had visited her place of business on June 27 and 28, at 9 a. m. on the latter date, remained unshaken in a vigorous cross examination. Other witnesses presented supported the claim that Hand and Zillick were following the routine of "men-about-town" at the time of the holdup. Several depositions were read to the jury late yesterday and at the opening of court this morning. Three Toledo officers and Dr. W. E. Baker, Bucyrus jail physician, were called to the stand for testimony regarding Zillick's limp, said to have resulted from a gun shot wound, some weeks previous to the holdup.

ASSISTS IN PAGEANT

Marion Girl Will Accompany University Gospel Team

Miss Nanette Newby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Newby, 577 E. Center-st, took part in the yuletide pageant, the main feature of the second annual Christmas celebration at Ohio Wesleyan University on the campus Wednesday night. The festivities were in charge of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

The pageant, based on the old English theme of Christmas cheer, was written for the occasion by Miss Martha P. Leach, a student, from Peoria Heights, Ill. Prior to the main event town criers spread the message of good cheer, students and their guests assembling about a lighted Christmas tree on the campus for the pageant. Contributions of clothing, groceries and toys to be distributed among the needy by a committee from the Associations were placed under the tree.

Miss Newby is a member of one of the three gospel teams to be sent out by Ohio Wesleyan University during the holidays, it was announced today. She will accompany the team which will go to Wooster M. E. Church where the members will work with members of the Young People's societies. Miss Newby is a junior at Ohio Wesleyan.

LINDY WILL RETURN TO U. S. IN "SPIRIT"

Flight Back to Washington Will Not Be Non-Stop, However

more than willing to keep up an everlasting "vivat!"

For the daring young flier, history was repeating itself. As was the case when he accomplished his remarkable flight from New York to Paris, the people upon whom he glided down from the skies gave him their hearts.

When the flying colonel finally descended from the blue and landed gracefully at Valbuena Field, literally millions of persons were relieved of a fear that he suffered mishap. For, according to the time limit he had set himself, he was about an hour late.

But the famous team of "We" was not to blame. Talking to newspapermen of his flight he said:

"The fog was to blame for my being late. The weather was okay as far as the Mexican border, but I ran into fog as I mounted over the foothills of the Sierras.

Lost His Route

"After I left Tampico I lost my route and had to be guided solely by compass. I could not help drifting to the west and seemed to have followed a large detour, going even farther west than Toluca—as far as Salvatierra and Morelia anyway—and it was the sign of the Toluca Railway Station that gave me my first idea of my real location. But, of course, it is impossible to give a complete story of the trip in a few words."

The reception accorded Colonel Lindbergh when he entered the city after his flight was tremendous. Practically all the inhabitants of the federal district crowded the sidewalks, roofs, windows, and even the church-spires along the route.

A peaceful Caesar of the air had arrived.

All the houses were decorated with Mexican and American flags, the latter making a surprising appearance from unexpected sources.

In Latin custom, the inhabitants showered flowers upon the ambassadorial car as it progressed and the air was continually filled with shouting and cheering.

Lindbergh landed at Valbuena Field at 2:39 p. m., (3:39 eastern standard time) coming in from the west with an escort of nine Mexican army planes.

Morrow Greets Him

American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was the first person to greet the flier on Mexican soil. With his hands outstretched the ambassador was waiting when Lindbergh stepped out of the cabin of "The Spirit of St. Louis."

Seizing Lindbergh's hand, the ambassador asked:

"Are you tired?"

"Not very," said Lindbergh.

After being assured that his plane would be absolutely safe, possibly recollecting at the moment a similar scene in Paris when another huge crowd, anxious to greet him, almost wrecked his "partner," Lindbergh was taken to the presidential box.

There President Calles, not content with greeting him with a handshake, threw both his arms about the young aviator and impulsively hugged him.

Coolidge Congratulates Him

Throughout the evening telegrams of congratulation, from President Coolidge down through officialdom to just "plain folk" poured into the embassy.

One of the first things Lindbergh did when he reached the embassy was to request that a long distance telephone call be put in for his mother. When the connection was complete, he said: "We made it, Mother. I have already been presented with a fine Mexican sombrero."

And this sombrero seemed to please Lindbergh immensely. For upon being asked what pleased him most on his arrival, he said:

"The sombrero which was presented to me when I landed."

the owner of the machine. This morning Terro claimed the car was his and that he had bought it from Michael.

The ownership of the car is further complicated by a statement made by officials in the automobile registrar's office in Columbus. The license plates on the Buick had been issued for a Chevrolet, it was said. That no charge of driving an automobile with the wrong license plates attached will be filed against Terro, was intimated at police headquarters this morning.

The collision which threw the Orcutt car over on its side on the sidewalk in front of the home of Dr. A. A. Starner, of S. Main-st and which resulted in Mrs. Orcutt receiving severe cuts and bruises, and her husband a broken shoulder blade, occurred when Orcutt, who was going east, had nearly crossed the intersection. It is said by witnesses that the liquor car was traveling at high speed.

Terro refused to discuss the destination of the liquor, simply saying he was on his way to Columbus.

Car Barns and Emergency Station at Stratford Destroyed

the equipment in the company's emergency power plant, used as the main power unit by the company until the Scioto station was constructed about 10 years ago. This plant had not been in use.

Three large turbines and a number of large transformers were totally destroyed, officials of the company stated.

Barn Old Structure

Only the brick walls of the car barn were standing at noon. This building was one of the oldest structures in Delaware County, having been utilized for many years as a paper mill before it was taken over by the traction line.

The emergency power plant is located in the center of the group of buildings. The boiler room, where the fire is believed to have originated, is located to the north of the barns and emergency station. The carpenter and paint shop, which escaped the blaze, is situated a considerable distance north of the main structure.

The nine passenger coaches which were saved from the destruction were spotted on sidings near the demolished plant today. Up until this afternoon no arrangements for shelter had been made.

Traffic Tied Up

In view of the advantageous location of the Stratford plant, midway between Columbus and Marion, terminals of the company's traction line, there is little likelihood that plans will be made to move the station to Marion or Delaware, officials said today.

The paint and carpenter shop, where the largest group of men are employed, will continue to service cars of the line, it was said. With this as a nucleus it is expected that the company will rebuild the necessary structures.

Traffic on the line was tied up for a short time this morning while Delaware firemen and employes of the company were fighting the flames.

tain additions and betterments paid for by the company between Sept. 30, 1924, and Sept. 30, 1926. The company's inventory credited these additions and betterments with a reproduction value of approximatly $1,250,000, although the actual cost, it was stated did not exceed about $830,000.

Counsel for the protestants claimed the company failed to allow for depreciation of these properties in its valuations.

Excessive Price, Claim

Claim, also, was made by attorneys for the protestants that the Logan Gas Co. paid excessive prices to the Columbia Gas & Electric Co. for gas.

Pointing out that the Columbia Gas concern is the "holding company" for the Logan Gas Co., state's counsel declared that highest prices paid by the Logan Gas concern for gas went to the Columbia Gas & Electric.

According to counsel for the protestants, the Logan Gas Co. paid the Columbia Gas and Electric 34 cents per each 1,000 cubic feet of gas purchased, but paid only 27 cents per 1,000 to the Muskingum Gas Producing Corporation. The highest price paid to an individual by the Logan Gas Co. for gas was 15 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, these attorneys stated.

lapsed so suddenly that despite the presence of mind of the sisters in charge and the fine behavior of the children, it was impossible to escape from a great tragedy. The firemen and nuns risked their lives in saving those who were rescued.

A large crowd which gathered outside the building heard the screams of the children as the walls collapsed.

Two elderly persons who lived in the asylum are believed to have perished. They were employed at the institution.

Parents Frantic

The children who were saved were given shelter at the mother house of the Good Shepherd and in private homes nearby. The horror of the tragedy unnerved the youthful survivors, some of whom cried bitterly for their lost companions.

Some of the parents who had placed their children in the orphanage to be educated learned of the tragedy and rushed to the scene. Those who learned that their loved ones were dead or missing rent the air with their cries, while those whose children had been saved rushed to their little ones and joyfully embraced them.

The orphanage is an old historic building and a landmark in the city. It was a large four-story stone structure and was built in 1832.

YOUTHFUL PRISONERS PUZZLE TO SHERIFF

Both Apparently Demented, Officer Says; May File Affidavits

Two youthful prisoners, both apparently demented and unable to give any definite information regarding their place of residence, were in the custody of Sheriff James A. Deal today.

They are registered at the county jail as Bill Willie and John Johnson, and their ages are estimated at about 22 years. The sheriff said that unless the prisoners show signs of mental improvement, he will probably file affidavits in probate court to have them taken to the state hospital.

Willie, a negro, was taken in charge by Deputy Sheriffs Vane Ireland and George W. Deal about 7 o'clock last night after complaints were filed by persons residing near the Smeltzer-rd, south of the city. The officers were informed that Willie had been wandering from house to house throughout the afternoon, applying for lodging. He told the sheriff that he had been employed at a bakery in Mansfield but could not explain how he happened to reach this neighborhood.

Found at Bucyrus

Johnson, who is white, first came to the attention of local authorities last week when he was found writhing on the floor of the restroom at the courthouse in Bucyrus. Officers there placed him in the jail for observation, believing him to be a victim of dope.

Following his release at Bucyrus, Johnson came to Marion and was found half-frozen by local police during the severe cold weather which prevailed for several days. He was turned over to the sheriff and has been under the care of a physician at the jail for several days. His feet were frozen and still require medical attention.

Johnson told the sheriff that he came here from Toledo, where he was formerly a patient at the South Street State Hospital. Deal was informed by Toledo authorities, however, that they have no record of Johnson having been in the city.

Deal says that he sees no indications of the youth having been a dope victim but believes that he is suffering from mental derangement.

DEDICATION OF HOME PLANNED

American Legion Plans "House-Warming" Party Night of Jan. 23

Marion's American Legion Home, located on S. High-st and formerly known as the Community Home, is to be dedicated at a "house-warming" event to be held the night of Jan. 23.

Arrangements for the dedication, which will be attended by World War veterans and members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion from Marion and neighboring communities, were announced last night at the semi-monthly meeting of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162.

A special program of entertainment will be planned. It will include an address by a state officer of the Legion.

Officers of the Legion Holding Co. reported that transfer of the property had been made and the deed recorded. The Community Home was purchased of John Baldauf, local contractor and real estate dealer, following a referendum vote taken among members of Bird-McGinnis Post. The vote was almost unanimous in favor of buying the property.

Custodian Named

Management of the home will be in charge of the executive committee of Bird-McGinnis Post, which consists of the principal officers, headed by Dr. J. W. McMurray as commander, T. E. Kinnear, post adjutant, was appointed as custodian. He will have an office at the home and arrange for renting the building to other organizations holding meetings there.

On Dec. 28, Bird-McGinnis Post will entertain members of the Harding Guard Detachment with a dinner and program at the Marion Club. A committee consisting of L. Don Jones, L. K. Warner, George T. Geran, Ralph Grubaugh and J. W. Llewellyn was appointed to make the arrangements.

Presented Badge

L. Don Jones, who served as commander of the post during the last year, was presented a past commander's badge at last night's meeting, the presentation speech being made by George T. Geran.

Showing of two motion picture films, one portraying manufacture and operation of excavating machines at the Osgood Co. plant and the other consisting of scenes at Camp John Owens, the local Boy Scout camp, was the principal feature of a social session which closed the meeting. The pictures were shown as a courtesy from the Osgood Co.

VELMA WEST DOESN'T CARE TO GO ON STAGE

Painesville, Dec. 15—Velma West, sophisticated "flapper widow" who is alleged to have beaten her young husband to death with a hammer, at their cottage home in Perry, Dec. 6, has no desire to go on the stage, in the event she is released on bond, she indicated today.

Offered a "dramatic role" in a Cleveland theatrical production in case she is allowed bail, the 21-year-old blonde, replied:

"I am not at all interested in your offer. I have neither the experience nor the inclination which would justify acceptance of your proposal."

Miss Mildred P. Jacobs and Ralph A. Garverick Wed

A pretty wedding was solemnized at 10:30 o'clock this morning at Emanuel's Lutheran Church when Miss Mildred Pauline Jacobs became the bride of Ralph Adelbert Garverick. The pastor, Rev. J. W. Schillinger, read the single ring service in the presence of members of the immediate families and a few close friends of the bride and bridegroom. They were attended by Mrs. Carl Otto, Springfield, Mass., as matron of honor and Harold Jacobs, brother of the bride, as best man. The wedding marches were played by Miss Mabel Baldauf. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jacobs, Blaine-av, and later Mr. and Mrs. Garverick left on a honeymoon in Cleveland. They will be at home after Dec. 20 at 200 Wildwood-ct.

The bride wore for her wedding a charming frock of flowered Celina crepe with a hat in corresponding tints and her flowers were a corsage of deep-shaded Columbia roses and stevia. Her matron of honor was attired in an attractive gown of gray crepe with a hat to match. Mrs. Otto's flowers were Columbia roses in a pastel shade and yellow pon pons. For traveling Mrs. Garverick wore a frock of rose georgette and a hat to match and a black fur coat.

The bride's colors of green and white predominated in the decorative scheme for the wedding dinner at which covers were placed for members of the bridal party, Mr. and Mrs. Garverick, of near Galion, parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. T. H. McCann, Mrs. Amos Garverick, Misses Mildred and Margaret Garverick, Philip Garverick, Henry Garverick and Harold Garverick, Galion; Mrs. Etta Bauer, Mansfield; Rev. and Mrs. J. W. HOLLYWOOD IS NOT BAD, BRITISH MINISTER FINDS

London, Dec. 15—"Hollywood is not so bad as it is painted," declares Rev. Henry Carter, secretary of the Wesleyan Methodist Social Welfare.

"On my recent visit," he declared, "I found the very best men in the heart of the film-producing industry."

Rev. Carter, states, he has succeeded in getting a promise, which is very important to England, from Mr. Will Hays, president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, that the association is about to sanction an agreement to lift up the stage and screen. This provides for censorship within the industry, which will ban gibes at religion, at its teachers, forbid sex and crime emphasis in films, and curtail the suggestiveness of posters. The same censorship would apply to films exported to England.

NERVOUSNESS KEPT THIS LADY A HEALTH-WRECK

Stomach Indigestion Miserable; Says Konjola Gave Her Amazing Relief.

"Oftimes, nervousness and stomach troubles go hand in hand," said The Konjola Man yesterday at the Stump & Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where crowds of men and women are now calling daily to find out about this celebrated Konjola medicine.

MRS. E. E. LANDON

"The nervous person may not be aware of stomach trouble, but very often the stomach is disordered, and at times it is the real seat of this terrible nervousness," continued the Konjola Man. "A nervous person wakes in the morning tired and exhausted. As the day advances his strength increases and at bedtime the sufferer is usually at his best, while some persons are just a bundle of nerves all the time—the least excitement nearly drives them frantic. As a rule, constipation, headaches, melancholia, or blues, are very common, and the sufferer seems to look only on the dark side of life—these things make nervousness a dreaded ailment."

This Konjola, which The Konjola Man is introducing in Marion, has given such amazing relief in so many cases of nervous indigestion and stomach troubles, that it is declared that no suffering person can afford not to try it. Many people say Konjola seems to go at once to the very source of such misery. For instance, just a few days ago Mrs. E. E. Landon, living on East Street, Prospect, Ohio (near Marion), made the following statement in which she told of the relief she derived by taking Konjola:

"I just feel fine now, and I think Konjola is wonderful," said Mrs. Landon. "I suffered terribly with nervousness and stomach trouble. In fact, it made little difference what I ate. I was sure to be in agony from indigestion. I would bloat up with gas, and it was almost impossible for me to sleep at nights, due to shattered nerves. I used to feel pretty bad every morning but now, your Konjola has benefited me so much that every morning I feel fit and fine. This is because I sleep so well. And with my nervousness and indigestion gone, I just feel like I have a new hold on life. As I said, I think Konjola is wonderful, and I am glad to recommend it to help others afflicted like I was."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump and Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is now being sold by all of the good druggists in every nearby town of this whole section.—Adv.

The Story of a Girl Who Tried To Cheat Love

BY GILBERT ROGERS

CHAPTER 18

A week later Sally looked back as if she were looking back across a

She had unearthed a calendar, stuck up over her dressing-table, to watch days go by until Jerry returned.

He had said: "I don't write letters, I can't— besides, no letter could tell what I feel. I'll wire you if anything happens." When she begged him just a word, he shook his head:

"No. I'll save up until I get back. It will be all right. Just think of me once in a while—if you can."

Then he had gone, waving his hand, while she stood watching, feeling lonely as if for the first time she had learned the meaning of loneliness.

Time—it went so fast sometimes, but so slowly when you were waiting, really waiting, for something. With Carlotta Brooke, she filled every minute of every day, yet she seemed to herself to be always waiting. She went to tea, luncheon, dinner, played a beginner's game of golf, watched some crack tennis players at the Casino.

And people—she could remember more faces than names, though even these made scarcely an impression on her now. She was glad the story of her upbringing in France had got about. It saved her from explaining why she didn't play bridge, vingt et un, or know any of the things one was supposed to know.

But in that week there was only one thing she had really enjoyed doing. She asked Carlotta about Jerry's aunt.

"Mrs. Farrington? Never heard of her. Oh, yes, I know now—some dreadful middle-western people. They've taken a big gaudy house and are giving big gaudy entertainments to which no nobody goes. It will take them five years to break in, and then they'll have probably spent all their money."

Sally strolled out towards dusk one evening to look at the big, gaudy house. Jerry had stayed there—they were Jerry's people.

The house was sinister, set back of a long drive with an artificial fountain before it. Lights in all the windows, a feeling of life, activity, behind those white, cold walls. Sally stared for a long time before she went away.

If Jerry had only written! But this waiting and wondering was so hard. . . . And worst of all, she had promised to meet Adrian Martin, and Adrian Martin was here. Worst of all, because now, without ever having seen him, she had taken a violent dislike to him.

Little words of Carlotta's, dropped ever so casually, made an unpleasant picture. She saw Adrian Martin as someone with puffy eyes, a loose mouth violent and ruthless. Why had Shevlin wanted her to meet him, try to interest him? And because Shevlin had talked sentimentally of favors, played on her sense of fairness, she had promptly agreed. How could she get out of it? Did she really owe Shevlin that?

Of course meeting Adrian Martin didn't matter. In a way she was curious . . . but—to flirt with him, lead him on—! And that was what Shevlin had asked. She wouldn't, she couldn't!

"I don't mind his liking me, of course" she told herself, looking into the mirror! Friday evening, before going on to Mrs. Drake's dance. "But trying to make him like me! No. I won't do that. I'll just meet him, and he'll probably hate me, and I'll tell Dan Shevlin that."

Adrian Martin was certain to be at Mrs. Drake's dance, for Mrs. Drake ruled the social colony, and the dinner and dance with which she opened the season was like a roll call of the elect.

"What those people you were asking about the other day, those Farringtons, would give to be invited!" Carlotta exclaimed. "This is really your first smart affair. All ready, darling?"

Carlotta looked so gay and lovely, and yet her loveliness only set off the simplicity and delicate curves of Sally's oval face. They drove to the big Drake house, alighted before scrolled iron gates, stepped into a great hall that had the treasures of a palace in it. "Like living in the New York Astor Library," Sally thought.

Tall columns going up to an immense ceiling with polychrome carving. Chinese rugs that stretched endlessly, footmen in the lower hallway. Mrs. Drake, a little old woman with white, piled hair, all in black, receiving with blank, cold eyes, a blank, cold smile.

Sally shivered. "Carlotta, I must be common . . . I'd rather live in a tenement."

"Sssh! Someone will hear you. . . What a crowd! Oh, there's Mabel Bradon . . . I must speak to her. . . ."

Across the wide floor, great doorways opened upon a ballroom, and in a kind of balcony an orchestra was playing. People were dancing under the crystal lights, hung as if in a theater. Sally nodded to a boy she had met, and then was dancing with him.

He talked of golf in a husky voice while he danced, and then left her to mix himself a highball. . . . Groups here and there chatted together, or men and women sat in attitudes of tension, speaking rapidly and in low voices, that proclaimed that they were about to be lovers, or had ceased to be.

Men with decorations and foreign faces, diplomats, officers, old men with shrewd eyes who looked as if they ruled a bank with each finger, women of all ages, tired and wise, with seeking, restless faces.

Carlotta had disappeared. Sally stole away. She didn't want to dance now. She felt uncomfortble in this elaborate place. She passed a long refectory table, where cold lobster, pate de fois-gras, and innumerable things lay temptingly, yet tempting no one.

Tubby Wells had left town, Carlotta had told her. She was glad of that. She did not ever want to see him again. As for Adrian Martin, well, she could hardly find him in this crowd, and Carlotta had disappeared. She would tell Shevlin she hadn't been able to meet him.

A man was standing near one of the columns, with folded arms, smoking a thin panatella. His head had a dark, swarthy look which his immaculate evening white and black heightened. It was a heavy head, with heavy eyelids, a large, humorous mouth. He looked as if he had been born tired.

She met his eyes, and passed on. Then wandered by herself in a billiard room, and found she was alone. She sat down and began to think of Jerry.

All at once the man she had noticed sauntered in, nodded to her with a little smile, and rolled back the gold and scarlet drapery that covered the table. He selected a cue, and without a word began to practice some shots. Sally watched him without speaking. Somehow she felt amused, as if he were giving her a special entertainment. He made an excellent shot.

"What about that?" he asked, turning. His voice was casual but rich and heavy. There was no doubt he had fascination.

"Awfully good," she admitted.

He put down his cue deliberately. "Would you mind telling me what you are doing in here all alone? Whom are you running away from?"

"I don't know," said Sally, adding with sudden frankness, "unless it's Adrian Martin."

He gave a quick glance. "Why run away from Adrian Martin? Don't you like him?"

"I haven't met him yet. I don't want to meet him."

"He's not such a bad fellow."

"Oh, I suppose men might like him."

"He has some reason for thinking women do also. His three ex-wives could furnish excellent testimonials."

She laughed. "You must be a good friend of his."

"I am. I'm his best friend."

"Really?"

"Yes. You see, I am Adrian Martin."

"When Society Sins"

MARRIAGE to the man she loved. A home. Happiness. Life could hold no sweeter promise to a girl returning home from college to fulfill her destiny as George Abbott's wife.

But from the hour of her return she felt within her soul that some mysterious and sinister influence was at work to destroy her happiness. There were strange rumors linking the name of the man she loved with that of a woman who had become an outcast of society — rumors that he denied with fury—yet which he could not explain.

She wanted to believe he was true—that he loved her and her alone—that he was the victim of a plot to shield one of the most highly respected men in the community. She little dreamed that even then she herself was the central figure around which a terrible drama was about to unfold. She could not know that she was soon to wage a desperate, even tigerish battle for respect, honor, all that a good woman holds dear.

If you want to peer deep into the secret recesses of a woman's soul, don't miss this heart-rending story from life, "When Society Sins," in January True Story Magazine.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co. Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

Tomorrow will be Friday and a week from Monday will be Christmas and I have got my two dollars back. But if it had not been for my grandfather I would not have got anything back, and if it had not been for the policeman my grandfather would not have got anything back and the policeman would not have got any two dollars and Red's kid brother would not have his wagon back.

I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and then I put on my britches and everything and went downstairs, and I was feeling pretty good. The bunch wanted me to spend some of the money yesterday, because they said they helped me to earn a dollar of it, and I told them to go and chase themselves. I thought maybe they wouldn't come to the barn this morning because they thought I was cheating them out of a dollar, but they were all there and Youniss and Feeble and Maggie came just as we were starting for the hill with our slays so they went along, and all the other fellas could do was to go skating around and around, but Youniss sot on my slay and let me pull her around as much as I wanted to.

The Lost Bag of Tripe wanted to bet me that I couldn't pull Youniss all the way up the hill and to school without stopping, and I had my two dollars with me and I offered to bet him all of it, but he said he wasn't no gambler and anyhow didn't have no two dollars, so we just bet. And the smoothest way to go was up the slide, but it was the slippiest for me, but I turned my feet sideways and Youniss hung onto the sides of the slay and bent over till her nose was almost on her toes, and by the time I got almost to the top of the hill my eyes and tongue was almost sticking out and the Lost Bag of Tripe was walking beside me saying over and over: "You can't do it! You can't do it!" And then all at once I slipped and went on my nose because the slay wasn't pulling any more, and I looked around just in time to see Youniss legs up in the air as she went over the bump, and then I looked at the end of the rope in my hand, and it was cut! And I looked around for the Lost Bag of Tripe but he had went to school, and he had went so fast that he was out of sight.

I went down after Youniss but she was mad at me and said she had seen enough of me to know I was not gentleman, I was too much of a gentleman to tell her I had seen so very much of her. When I showed her where the rope was cut she got good again.

The Lost Bag of Tripe probly won't live until Christmas.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

MADGE TO TUTOR MISS LINCOLN

SOMETIMES I think that Lillian has all the instincts of a vivisector, only with souls for her scalpel instead of bodies. The look which I caught in her eyes at my impassioned protest against teaching Eleanor Lincoln the history of the drama, as Mrs. Veritsen had requested, had revealed to me the reason for her crass question to my employer concerning Miss Lincoln's intentions as to payment. She had wished to know my reaction to Dicky's admiration of the girl and had taken this method of eliciting it.

For a moment my heart was hot against her. Then with the remembrance of her many years of staunch friendship and with the knowledge that she was actuated only by a desire to help me, my anger died, only to flare again an instant later as Mr. Veritsen answered my protest.

"But how exceedingly foolish of you!" he exclaimed. "Your time is exceedingly valuable. Why should you give it away? Miss Lincoln is not only able, but extremely anxious—"

I putup my hand with a decisive gesture.

"Please do not speak of this again if you wish me to teach her," I said with an iciness that covered violent anger. "If you will count this service as part of my duties as your employee I shall be very glad not only to carry out not only your explicit instruction, but your implied ones. Otherwise I must refuse to have anything to do with it."

He looked at me fixedly and I returned the gaze as steadily. Lillian snapped the tension with an opportune laugh.

"Come one, come all; this rock shall fly from its firm base as soon as I," she quoted. "You may think that refers to you, Phil, but let me tell you old Sir Walter didn't know Madge or he'd have made that coupler refer to her. Better let her have her way. You won't get yours unless you do."

He bowed a bit stiffly.

"I can only acquiesce in so pronounced a decision," he said. "And I am more grateful than I can say. When can you begin?"

"Any time," I returned. "Today, tomorrow."

"Always prompt and ready," he complimented. "What hours will suit your convenience?"

"I hold my time from ten to four at your service," I reminded him, "so Miss Lincoln would better choose the hours most suited to her."

"I will ask her to do so and let you know," he said. Then he turned to Lillian, who had assumed an attitude most unusual to her. Slumped into her chair, with her hands resting listlessly in her lap and her face drawn dolorously down, she looked almost as if she were about to break into tears.

"Are you ill?" he asked, concernedly.

"I am dying," Lillian retorted, "of ennui. How ever do you stand it, Phil, out here, so far away from everything? I'm almost crazy about the country for about two days. Then everything goes black before my eyes and I gasp for breath until I get back to dear old Broadway again."

I listened with an astonishment that I had hard work to conceal to this specious speech. For if ever there was a woman who genuinely revels in country life during the summer it is Lillian. She could not be hired to stay away from the city in the Winter time, but in the Summer no money would tempt her into it unless the necessities of her profession called her.

But I comprehended her little scheme with her next sentence.

"If there were anything doing out here it would be a little different," she said. "But everybody acts as though they had died and been buried for a year!"

Dull, listless, out of sorts, feeling half-sick

IS it a cold coming on? Is it over-eating or what can it be? Probably it is Nature warning that your system is not functioning properly.

When you feel this way you should follow the treatment that has helped many, many other people. Even two weeks of it will make a difference in the way you feel.

A prominent New York physician says, "When my patients have that dull half-sick feeling I always prescribe Nujol and recommend at least two weeks' continued usage. Why? Because Nujol absorbs and clears away the toxic intestinal poisons that in most cases are the cause of the trouble. Further, Nujol is absolutely harmless and can be taken by young babies or old people."

Not like medicine

Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. It's a natural substance unlike anything else. Can't hurt you. Others have benefited from taking it, why not you?

This remarkable product is sold all over the world. Go to any druggist, get a bottle of Nujol and see for yourself what it will do. Only—don't delay. Do it now. Insist on the real Nujol. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

Great skill and care these folks display

Cigaret and Sleepy Editor Proves Bad Combination

A cigaret and forty winks nearly proved the undoing of Jack Donahue, local newspaper editor, one morning this week. Throwing a shoe at an early ringing alarm clock with one hand and reaching for a cigaret with the other Donahue prepared to start the day right and before he knew it he was going like a house afire.

Perhaps the trouble was all the fault of the forty winks for the cigaret might have been harmless enough had it not been for the last minute doze. But anyway the extra nod came and therein lies a story.

With the cigaret clutched loosely between the index and big fingers the [illegible] was wafted into the room of Morpheus with disastrous result to the landlady's bedclothing.

Awaking later Donahue found the room filled with smoke and experienced peculiar sensation around the [illegible]. Blazing pajamas had registered [illegible] to our side while smouldering comforts were blistering a foot.

The fire was soon out—but [illegible] window where it struggled hopelessly to regain the prestige it had when it burning a blazing young editor.

Making a clock that has no [illegible] parts and needs no oiling is now possible through a new auto perfected by an English inventor.

Three of the senators—Heflin, Democrat of Alabama, LaFollette, Republican of Wisconsin, and Borah, Republican of Idaho—were called to the witness stand as soon as Mr. Hearst left and they denied vigorously that they had ever received any money from the Mexican Government.

All declared they never had been approached by Mexican representatives or by any one else.

Compromise on Memorial Paving Project Looms As Officials Plan Conference

Get-Together Meeting Scheduled Between County and City Representatives Following Hearing on Proposal Before Commissioners

A definite step which may result in an agreement on plans for constructing the Harding Memorial section of the Vernon Heights boulevard was taken this morning when arrangements were made for a "get-together" meeting of the board of county commissioners and city council.

Announcement of plans for the conference, which will probably be held next week, was made following hearing on the boulevard project held by the board of commissioners this morning. Today's discussion, which lasted an hour and a half, ended with no signs of agreement in evidence. Hope was expressed, however, that a satisfactory understanding might be reached at next week's meeting.

Meet Jan. 19

In order to allow time for further negotiations, the commissioners adjourned hearing today until 10 o'clock, Jan. 19.

Objections filed by the city against the schedule of assessments proposed for the improvement remain as the one and only obstacle to the project. Several weeks ago, when the first hearing was held by the commissioners, the city filed claims for the compensation and damages totalling $30,000. The matter was then postponed until today in hope that the city's objections might be eliminated in the meantime.

Acting as spokesman for the city at today's hearing City Solicitor Geran stated that he had received no further instructions and that so far as he knew there was no change in council's views.

The city bases its objections and claim for compensation on apportionment of the assessments, which would place approximately two-thirds of the cost on the city, and the proposal to appropriate an area of city park land for the boulevard route.

Total Cost $68,000

Total cost of the boulevard, which would extend from the Marion-Delaware-rd. north of the Harding Memorial, to the Vernon Heights Addition, is estimated at $68,000. This estimate provides for asphalt paving over a double line boulevard extending through the city park land and a single line macadam thoroughfare for the east section.

The city's share of the cost is estimated at $10,000.

Geran stated that while members of council have indicated that they are willing to pay a share of the cost, they believe that the $10,000 is too much, especially in consideration of the park land given for the right-of-way.

Agree on Work

Both city and county officials attending today's hearing agreed that the boulevard should be constructed and that it should be completed before the time arrives for dedication of the Harding Memorial. It is with this thought in mind that they will make an effort to reach at an agreement at the proposed "get together" conference.

Among those attending today's hearing and taking part in the discussions were Mr. Geran and Engineer T. S. Cathers, representing the city; R. T. Lewis of the Vernon Heights Realty Co.; O. S. Rapp, president of the city park commission; Hoke Donithen and J. F. Prendergast, representing the Harding Memorial Association; C. D. Schaffner of the Marion Cemetery Association, County Commissioners O. W. Kinnamon and W. M. King, County Surveyor C. R. Leavens and Col. G. B. Christian.

He pointed out that the order has been a pioneer in the nationwide campaign in behalf of workmen's compensation, mother's pension, old age pension and other humanitarian movements.

140 Attend

Following the business meeting and program, lunch was served by the lodge social committee. About 140 members of the local aerie were in attendance.

The relief work will continue throughout the winter months.

It was announced that a class of candidates will be initiated at next week's meeting and that plans for a membership will probably be completed after Jan. 1.

"For the past few years I have been troubled with indigestion. My kidneys were in poor condition and I was always more or less constipated. I failed to sleep well at night and felt tired and worn out during the day. My appetite was poor and what food I ate nearly always caused me distressing pains from gas and bloating. I had severe pains in my back which bothered me when I moved around.

"Since I started taking Tepee Herb Tonic it has helped me wonderfully. My appetite is good and I am not distressed after eating. I sleep soundly at night and get up feeling it and well. My bowels are regular and my general health is rapidly improving."

Joseph O. M. Sansotta Brings Action Naming Pennsylvania Following Accident

Judgment for $50,000 is asked by Joseph A. M. Sansotta, administrator of the estate of Nick Bartel, in a suit started today against the Pennsylvania Railway Co. This represents the amount of damages claimed by the administrator for the death of Bartel which resulted from injuries sustained while he was employed by the railway company in Mansfield on Feb. 14, 1927.

Bartel became alarmed, the petition states and jumped from the pit to avoid accident. In doing so, he stepped into the path of an engine which was being backed through the cloudy of steam. No warning signal was sounded, it is claimed, and Bartel was caught beneath the engine. Both legs were cut off and he died later from his injuries.

HOPE IS HELD FOR RECOVERY

Mrs. Floradora Jarvis, Lima, Still in Critical Condition at Marysville

Marysville, Dec. 15—Mrs. Floradora Jarvis, 38, who was critically injured in an automobile accident three miles east of Marysville, late Tuesday afternoon, in which E. C. Smith, of Urbana, lost his life, is still in a serious condition at the local hospital. She is suffering with a broken check bone, several deep facial wounds and probable internal injuries, Dr. P. D. Loughrake, the attending physician, stated late yesterday that she may recover.

The remains of E. C. Smith, who died from a crushed head, about an hour after the accident occurred, was taken to his home in Urbana Wednesday morning, where funeral services will be held. The remains were accompanied to Urbana by the widow and a son, Lowell, of Urbana.

In an interview with Mrs. Jarvis Wednesday, it was learned that she had left her home in Lima at 11 o'clock Wednesday, and had intended to go to Columbus to collect a $6,500 compensation fee which had been awarded her by the State Industrial Commission. Her husband, W. G. Jarvis, met his death about a year ago, while he was employed by the Defiance Glove and Mitten Works.

COMMISSION POSTPONES HEARING OF CASE

Columbus, Dec. 15—The State Industrial Commission, it was stated today, indefinitely postponed its scheduled hearing reative to the request of Mrs. Floradora Jarvis that the $6,500 award granted her by the commission, from the state workmen's compensation fund, as a result of the death of her husband at Defiance, be given her in a lump sum instead of in installments from month to month.

The action of the commission in postponing the hearing was taken late Wednesday when Attorney T. J. Duffy, Columbus, a former member of the commission, as counsel for Mrs. Jarvis, informed the commission that she was in a hospital at Marysville, suffering from probable fatal injuries received in an auto accident.

The hearing was originally scheduled to be held Wednesday.

Further action by the commission in this case, it was indicated, will be delayed pending the outcome of Mrs. Jarvis' injuries.

EFFORTS OF DAVIS APPARENTLY DOOMED

Secretary Practically Admits Defeat as Big Operators Fail To Appear

Washington, Dec. 15—The effort of Secretary of Labor Davis to get 100,000 striking miners back into the mines before Christmas in the highly important bituminous coal fields of central and western Pennsylvania, Ohio and northern West Virginia appeared doomed today.

While the joint committee of three mine workers and three operators met again today with Davis, any agreement that may be reached will have no effect on the big operators, who have steadfastly refused to join any conference to end the strike that has been in effect for eight months.

Davis practically admitted defeat when he said "it is useless for small operators to attend any conference unless the major operators attend and agree to remedial measures."

"No conference of operators and miners from a limited territory can solve the problems of the entire industry," he added. "Neither the president of the United States nor any other government official has the power to compel the industry to cure its own ills, or meet with any agency for that purpose."

UNUSUAL OPERATION

Surgeon Forced To Move Lad's Heart To Get Poison Pocket

Toledo, Dec. 15—Francis Viel, six-year-old boy, is recovering rapidly from one of the most unusual and delicate surgical operations ever performed here, according to reports from St. Vincent's Hospital where he is a patient.

After suffering an attack of pneumonia last fall, a large pocket of poisonous matter was revealed, through an x-ray picture, beneath the boy's heart.

Dr. T. J. Cunningham undertook the operation to remove the poison. For a brief space-time, it was necessary to put his fingers under the heart.

The operation was most successful, however, and the boy will probably be home by Christmas, according to attending physicians.

Bill Foster Arrives in Town With Whole Bag of New Tricks For Golfers

BILL FOSTER is in town!

To many Marionites, the majority in fact, this bit of information won't bear any particular significance, but there is a group of persons of both sexes that place much importance in the fact that Bill has arrived. For a week or more now, Bill and Mrs. Bill have been in Marion and their activities have so far been entirely for the benefit of the above mentioned interested group.

New Golf Pro

Well, to save adjectives, adverbs and other numerous parts of speech all of which have ground out in uncounted numbers on this piece of machinery, that once was a typewriter, it might as well be announced that Bill is the new pro at the Marion Country Club. Mrs. Bill is the better half, or at least the 50 per cent of the team.

And turf tearers won't have to wait until the April sun brings out the crocuses before getting acquainted with the new pro. According to his plans which have already been put into effect he will operate a golf school this winter for the die hards who are unable to pack their mashies and drivers in the wife's cedar chest for the winter.

Six Putting Crews

The school which consists of six practice putting greens and two practice driving nets is located at 155 N. Main-st. Within a short time the new pro expects to have a complete nine hole putting course and is planning a series of putting tournaments to be held during the winter.

And if you have any doubts concerning the toughness of these putting greens just drop in to see Bill some afternoon and try them out. There are few greens on the Marion Country Club that have anything on these practice greens for toughness.

The school according to the pro will last until the latter part of March at which time activities will start at the country club course.

A Real Scotchman

But whether or not you want to tie Golge in any winter golf, you should if you are a member of the country club and a golfer drop into the school and get acquainted with Bill Foster. A real Scotchman, who is not more than one generation removed from the Highlands and lochs, will greet you. Short, stocky, and slightly bald. Foster looks at you from under shaggy brows with a pair of keen eyes. He looks the part of an athlete of the out of door. He has been a professional golfer for 18 years.

Knows His Hooks

If you think he doesn't know his slices and hooks, just watch him as the Professor of Golf at the Marion Golf School. His explanations and instructions are clear and to the point. If your feet don't track as you progress to drive he tells you to line 'em up. "Hold your club this way—watch your stance and be sure to get that follow through right," but Bill will tell you all about that at so much per lesson.

Eagles Edge Out Buffalo Lincolns, 24 to 20 in Fast Game

Final Score Was Good Indication of Comparative Strength; Cancel Next Game

Poor Attendance Said To Be Reason for Marking Wittenberg Off Schedule; Johhny Miner's Buicks Here After Christmas Holidays

BY TOM BUCHANAN
Sports Editor of The Star

THE Eagles were just about four points better than the Buffalo Lincolns last night and the 24 to 20 score was a fairly good indication of their comparative strength. Although the Eagles were leading most of the way the game was never on ice, not even in the last two minutes. With less than four minutes to play the Eagles were out in front with a five points lead, the biggest of the game, but in the skirmishing and scuffling of the last two minutes McNeal, Lincoln, center, cut this lead to two points by dropping in a field goal and a free throw from the foul line. Just before the whistle blew Schwab ended the scoring for the evening and the book showed 24 to 20 with the Eagles in the lead.

Close Guarding

The play in the last quarter was marked by close guarding, the Eagles scored two baskets, Schwab and Shea getting one each. McNeal's basket and free throw were the only scores for the Lincolns in the period.

The Eagles' guarding was one of the big factors in checking up a victory for the locals, the Lincoln forwards being held to eight points. Manguso who cavorted around the floor with Bacon netted three baskets while Anowski, Baldy Compton's pardner for the evening, was held to two points from the foul line. McNeal who jumped center against Harry Schwab rolled up 12 points and was high scorer for the evening.

Although the personal foul rule was waived at the request of R. J. Foster, manager of the Lincolns, the game was free from intentional fouling. The visitors made nine trips to the free throw line and registered on four of them. The Eagles collected two points out of four tries.

Schwab and Shea Tie

Schwab and Shea split even on baskets for the evening at three each but the blond forward dropped one from the foul line to give him an extra point. Roll, with four baskets and one free throw, was high scorer for the Eagles.

The game last night was the second victory in as many starts for the Eagles. This contest, however, had an entirely different complexion than the one last week. With a 19 to 2 score at the half against the Reichenbach Fords the Eagles took things easy in the second half, but there was nothing one-sided about the game last night. When the first quarter was over the score was tied at six all with the Eagles scoring just before the end of the frame to even it up. In the second quarter the Eagles went into the lead and held it at 12 to 9 at the half.

Cancel Game

While there might have been, and was, some criticism of the calibre of the first team brought here there could be no kicks registered on the Lincolns. They put up as good and as clean a game as will be seen in their class and the Eagles were just four points better. But those four points will be enough to carry the locals through the year and find them with a successful season on the books when it ends.

The game scheduled with Wittenberg College for next week has been canceled, according to members of the Eagles Club who were promoting the tilt. The club has lost heavily on the two games played so far, and according to a statement last night, will not bring another team here until after the Christmas Holidays. Johnny Miner's Buicks will be the next team to appear here. They are scheduled for the first week in January.

ST. MARY'S TO PLAY KENTON INSTITUTE

Bitter Basketball Rivals Will Fight It Out Friday Night

Kenton, Dec. 15—Having won their first game of the season a week ago from Ridgeway, the St. Anthony Institute players of this city are confident of victory Friday night when they meet the St. Marys school quintet of Marion.

The game will be played in the S. A. I. auditorium, marking the only basketball attraction for Kenton on that night.

For years the Kenton and Marion clubs have been bitter basketball rivals since 1920 having played at least two games during each season. An unusual feature revealed by the records is that in practically every game the Marion boys won by one or two points. The total points for the seven year period are: Kenton 237; Marion, 242.

St. Marys of Marion and St. Anthony of Kenton together with St. John's of Delphos and St. Rose of Lima, were the "Big Four" teams in the Northwestern Catholic basketball conference in 1919-22.

NEW CHAMP?

CONGRESS MUST TAKE ACTION IN THIS CASE

Splilt in Athletic Relations Looms Between Army and Navy

New York, Dec. 15—An athletic breakbetween West Point and the United States Naval Academy was forecasted here today as the result of a statement by Major General Edwin B. Winans, superintendent of the United States Military Academy, in which he announced that he had approved a recommendation of the West Point advisory council that no further changes be made in the rules governing the eligibility of Cadets for membership on the West Point athletic teams.

Navy athletes who have played three years of varsity sport, either at Annapolis or elsewhere, are not eligible for another year of competition. This rule is not in force at West Point. Inasmuch as Rear Admiral Louis M. Nulton, the superintendent at Annapolis, recently announced that the Navy would schedule contests only with institutions enforcing the rule, an Army-Navy break is considered probable. Admiral Nulton's announcement climaxed a growing agitation on the part of Navy supporters that the Army adopt a similar restriction.

In declaring that the Cadets cannot be restricted, General Winans said the Army needs officers highly skilled in athletics in order to instruct the men in their command; that the age limit for admission to West Point is higher than at Annapolis; and that West Point is interested in making rules only for the good of the service and not to effect equalization between athletic teams.

DRAFT PROBLEM STILL STORE SPOT

Leagues Outside Modified Draft Rule Demand Showdown

New York, Dec. 15—Representatives from the National Association of professional baseball leagues, comprising the great family of minor circuits in America today will present to a joint committee of Major and Minor leagues clubs, presided over by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis today, a demand for a new draft agreement. They will call for a showdown on the meaning of the original Major-Minor agreement as it was in 1921, when Mike Sexton and John H. Farrell, of the Minors, signed their acceptance of the agreement and pledged loyalty to Landis.

It is the contention of Messrs. Farrell and Sexton that in 1921 they accepted the present agreement for seven years. At that time Commissioner Landis had been appointed for a seven year term.

The reign of Landiss was extended beyond the seven year term. The original treaty, according to the Minor leaguers, will terminate on Jan. 12, 1928.

The leagues operating outside of this modified draft contend that since they are forced to part with any player with whom the Majors accept, they are not working under equitable terms.

ROCKNE TO TEACH

Reports That Irish Coach Would Abandon School, Denied

Corvallis, Ore., Dec. 15—Reports that Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach would abandon his coaching schools next summer were denied here today by Paul Schissler, Oregon State coach. Schissler said that he and Rockne would give joint courses at Oregon State, Southern Methodist, Dallas and Hastings Colleges, Hastings, Neb. The courses at Notre Dame and Virginia have been abandoned in order to allow Rockne to conduct a party to the Olympic games, it was said.

"Y" TEAM TO TRAVEL

The Y. M. C. A. representative volleyball team will travel to Zanesville Saturday night to play the "Y" team of that city.

Billy Evans Feels All Put Out Over Sisler Deal

BY LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, was entertaining a growing suspicion today that the American League managers and magnates still regard him as an umpire. The boys apparently gave the former arbiter the well-known double cross yesterday in the sale of George Sisler, first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, to Washington for a sum variously reported at from $15,000 to $50,000.

Billy's Mistake

Evans had "understood" that Joe Judge, Washington first sacker would go to St. Louis as part payment for Sisler and that Judge then would be traded to Cleveland. But all that Billy got out of it was an offer from Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, to trade Judge to the Indians in exchange for pitcher Joe Shaute and a bundle of cash.

This proposal gave Evans a three-hour headache, but he hoped today to get Judge by giving up pitcher Lefty Miller and other players. In addition to Judge, two other first baseman—Earl Sheeley of the White Sox and George Burns of Cleveland—are on the market. Several other players already have heard that the wild waivers are saying. Pittsburgh shipped Emil Yde, the Danish southpaw, and catcher Roy Spencer to Indianapolis, in exchange for a player yet to be selected. Detroit sent catcher Johnny Bassler to Toronto and will get catcher Red Hargrave, formerly of the St. Louis Browns, in exchange. The Phillies have sent Jack Scott, veteran burler, to Toledo.

Go to Minors

Connie Mack is angling for Billy Keppy, Minneapolis first baseman, who once had a trial with the Athletics.

The National and American Leagues will hold their joint meeting today. The junior circuit re-elected Frank J. Navin of Detroit as vice president of the league and elected a new board of directors consisting of Charles A. Comiskey, Alva Bradley, Colonel Jacob Ruppert and Robert Quinn.

MIDWAY DROPS GAME TO BOYDS

Contest Was Rough and Threatened To Get Out of Control of Referee

The Midway cagers were unable to overcome the heavy scoring of Boblenz and Wilgus last night and dropped their game to the Boyd outfit, 31 to 21, in a preliminary to the Eagels-Buffalo Lincoln contest. Boblenz and Wilgus, both playing guard positions, scored 11 and 14 points respectively. Both were fast and dangerous and scored usually on dribbles under the basket.

The Midways held Wainfor, the Prospect flash, to three points. Wainfor's strong suit seems to be a small floor. The game was rough and at times threatened to get out of the control of Referee Irwin.

Schultz, 200 pound center for the Midway, simply reached up and dropped in eight points and led the scoring for his team.

TO STAGE TABLE TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT Y. M. C. A.

A table tennis tournament will be staged at the Y. M. C. A. during the Christmas vacation, according to Don M. Burson, boys' work secretary. All those who are interested should leave their names with Burson at once. An entrance fee of 10 cents will be charged to cover cost of the trophy for the winner.

Pre-Season Practice Has Failed To Reveal Any Stars in Untried Material

Evans, Garrett, Forwards, and McAninch at Running Guard Will Likely Be Starters, with Other Positions Still in Doubt

THE Harding High School cage team will break the ice of its 1927-28 court schedule tomorrow night with a game at the Star Auditorium with Columbus Central. The basketball attainments the local team displays in the opening game will give followers of the Red and Black some idea of what the team will do in the North Central Ohio league race this winter.

Poor Scoring

The quality of the opposition for the opener is somewhatin doubt at Central has scored but 17 points in two games. Six pionts was the best the Capital city outfit could garner in its opener with Springfield. The 11 points scored against Xenia were enough to win the game.

Coach "Baldy" Compton has been working the boys for several weeks. Much of the time has been spent on fundamentals and with that as a basis the team will enter the season with prospects of more than average success.

Practice sessions so far have failed to reveal any brilliant performers among the untried material out for places on the squad. For the first team, Coach Compton has letter men to draw on for all positions with the exception of the back guard. That position however, isn't causing the coach as much trouble as the center job. The development of a first class center this year has been one of the biggest tasks Coach Compton has had to face.

Today Coach Compton was undecided who his starters would be Friday night. Garrett and Evans however, will likely get the call at the forwards. McAnich is almost sure of the running guard job and the other guard will likely go to Lewis although there is considerable competition for the place. Whether or not Gillis, last year letter man, will get the call at center is unknown. Garrett, Evans and McAninch are the only letter men back.

Stocks Move in Narrow Price Radius

BEARS CAPTURE MAJOR HONORS

$1,000,000,000 Involved in Operations of Government and Corporations

Markets at a Glance

Railroad stocks, strong; industrial stocks, firm; domestic bonds, irregular; foreign bonds, firm; call money, 4 per cent; grain, steady; copper, strong; oil, irregular; cotton, steady; rubber, steady; sugar, steady; pig iron, firm; foreign exchange steady.

New York, Dec. 15—The industrial and specialty stocks moved through a narrow radius of price changes in irregular trading today. The action of the market was rather in the form of "jolts and jerks" than in any well-defined movement in either direction. Pools and professionals fought for advantage in some of the speculative favorites, with the bears carrying off the major honors in all but a few of the specialty stocks.

More than a billion dollars was involved in the government and corporation financing of the day, but no strain was apparent in the money market, and call loans ruled at 4 per cent. The U. S. Treasury received and paid out a total of $750,000,000 in settlement of certificate and Liberty Bond obligations, and the corporations made a huger disbursement of interest and dividends. As now constituted, the financial and banking mechanism of the country now regards such transactions as "book-keeping operations," to be carried through with no disturbance to trade.

A rally in the copper stocks, under the lead of Anaconda and Chile Copper companies, was considered a belated response to the recent firming up of the copper market, as well as the recognition of the higher market values of the stock holdings of Green Cananea Co. by Anaconda and the Ryan copper interests, American Smelting and International Nickel sold higher.

Cotton

New York, Dec. 15—Cotton prices opened higher today up five to 18 points. December sold at 18.75, up 18; January 18.00, up 11; March 18.78, up 09; May 18.95, up 10, and July 18.85, up 05.

Rubber.

New York, Dec. 15—Outside rubber —Trading in the outside market for crude rubber futures was quiet with prices steady. Sellers asked 39⅝ cents for spot and Dec. ribbed smoked sheets; 39⅜ cents for Jan.; 39¾ cents for Jan.-March; 40⅜ cents for April-June.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

A small amount of holly was being carried by markets today that was selling at 45 cents a pound for the loose and 25 cents for wreaths. Dealers say holly will be scarce this year and the price will, in all probability, remain high. All seasonable vegetables are plentiful and dealers report business fair with prices steady. A few cucumbers and green peas were being carried that are selling slowly at 20 cents for the former and 25 cents a pound for the latter. Cabbage, which for a time threatened to become a drug on the market, was being offered today at two cents a pound. Potatoes are holding at 35 cents a peck. Sweet potatoes are not so plentiful. What were being carried by dealers today were selling at two and three pounds for 25 cents. A special in English walnuts at 20 cents a pound, was being offered by some dealers today. The regular price is from 25 to 30 cents. Nuts are plentiful and dealers report heavy sales. Brazil nuts are selling at 25 to 40 cents, pecans from 45 to 75 and almonds from 30 to 50.

A short crop, it was said by dealers today, is holding cranberries at the peak price of 25 cents. Prospect of a drop is not so good dealers say. Oranges continue plentiful and are being offered at a wide range of prices. Small Florida varieties are selling at 14 to 25 cents and navels as high at 95 cents. Dealers report a heavy sale of grapes at 15 cents a pound. Both Malages and Tokays are plentiful. Grapefruit range from 15 cents each to 75 cents a dozen. Bananas are holding at 10 cents.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 15 — Following a choppy session, wheat prices closed irregular yesterday, with the market displaying a firmer tone near the end of the day's business. Foreign markets were relatively steady. Improvement in the cash demand, with fairly large sales to millers, was a factor in the late firmness.

General small selling by locals and commission houses lowered wheat prices at the start, with a noticeable absence of buying power. Later there was fair buying on the breaks and the market firmed, but selling appeared on all the bulges. Most of the early buying was credited to the Northwest. Selling was almost entirely by locals, though commission houses sold in a small way.

Trade was of moderate volume, though considerably better than the dullness of the past week. Liverpool was due lower and was little down at the opening, but steadied later, closing unchanged to ¼d up. Buenos Aires was unchanged near the close, and Winnipeg finished unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Corn Shorts Cover

Although the pit element remained bearish, there was considerable controversy over the private estimate of 125,000,000 bu for the Australian crop. The Agricultural Department's review of the world wheat situation expressed the view that 100,000,000 bu surplus in the world crop is largely offset by the reduction in supplies from Russia and the poor quality in Canada and northern European countries.

Better commission house buying of corn was apparent at the outset and more appeared with the bullish statement of a prominent local operator. There was considerable short covering by some of the local traders who were prominent sellers the day before. Other commission houses sold on the bulges. Buenos Aires was ¼@1c higher at midday and Liverpool 1d higher.

Export demand was better with bids ½c higher.

Oats trading was of fair volume. Commission house buying again improved and local bulls also absorbed the offerings, which were light after an early wave of selling. Cash oats demand was still good and offerings were light. Deliveries on December contracts totaled 170,000 bu.

Rye showed sharp advances in the early trading, but later eased off with the choppy trade in wheat. Deliveries were 20,000 bu. Seaboard reported Germany was bidding for rye for export but that offerings were small, as bidders anticipated better prices in the future.

MARION UNION WILL AID COAL STRIKERS

Resolution Adopted by Local Labor Body To Send Help to Miners

The Marion Central Labor Union unanimously adopted a resolution to aid the three quarter million persons who are affected by the coal strikes and lockouts in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, at a meeting of the Union last night, according to R. K. Ruppart, secretary. According to Ruppart 150,000 miners are affected by the unsettled labor conditions in this territory and 600,000 women and children are dependent upon them.

The local union expects to gather clothing to be sent to the families of the miners, many of whom are living in barracks built for them by United Mine Workers.

Several new trades were represented by delegates at the meeting last night, according to the report of the secretary. Delegates from the Erie shops reported progress in the organization of employes there the report states. Building in the city is slow at present, delegates reported, but they are expecting a pickup soon with the starting of several building programs in the city.

Rail Organizations

Delegates representing the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, reported that all general chairmen of all railroad unions and brotherhoods on the Erie had been organized.

A committee organized for the purpose of building a closer relationship between the unions of the city was named last night. It is composed of C. A. Bolin, general organizer; Nelson Jones, of Panthers Local; Hayes Maynard, of the Carmen's union; Joseph Meeker, of the Carpenters union; John J. Zuck, of the railway clerks, and R. K. Ruppart, secretary of the Central Labor Union.

A report from the American Federation of Labor was read in which it was stated that three Ohio, Indiana, and New York manufacturing concerns were declared to be unfavorable to organized labor.

The Steel Workers union will hold a special meeting Saturday night of this week in the Central Labor Union hall. The next meeting of the Central Labor Union will be held Wednesday, Dec. 28, at which time officers will be elected for the coming year.

AUDITORIUM FILLED FOR JUNIOR PLAYS

Harding High School Class Presents Three One-Act Entertainments

One of the cleverest Harding High School student productions of the year was presentation of three one-act plays by the junior class before a well-filled auditorium last night at Central Junior High School.

The plays will be repeated at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Junior High School auditorium with several changes in the cast. Owing to the unusual amount of dramatic talent and the limited number of roles in the three plays, in several instances two students were given the same part, the one appearing last night and the other tonight.

Miss Lucile Foreman, dramatic coach for the high school, directed the presentation, and to her much credit is due for the decidedly original scenery and stage setting of "Romance of the Willow Pattern", for the choice of an excellent cast, and for the unique costuming.

Best Play

Of the three plays the most well-received was "Romance of the Willow Pattern," presented after the fashion of the Chinese, with no changes of scenery and with lapses of time and change of scene denoted by the passing of the incense bearer, with execution of movements about the stage assisted by a property man. The two outstanding roles, that of "Spirit of Chang," played by John Artopoeus and "Spirit of Koong See", charmingly enacted by Miss Jane Smith, explained the play in a short prologue, followed by the play proper with seven fragments of "scenes of the imagination."

James Shipley took the part of the Mandarin, Miss Smith that of "Koong See", his daughter, John Artopoeus the role of "Chang", the Mandarin's secretary, Miss Enla Bain of the incense bearer and Howard Bailey, property man.

Second Play

"Joint Owners in Spain" was the second play, a character comedy laid in an Old Ladies Home. The presentation study of two eccentric old ladies, Miss Shirley May Clagett as Miss Dyer, Miss Dorothy Bush as Miss Blair. Miss Mary Jo Stafford took the part of Mrs. Mitchell, matron, and Miss Betty Brown that of Mrs Fullerton.

In the space of one short act a thrilling mystery was solved in "The Grill" in which the characters were Trent, district attorney, played by Vance Hardin; Alice his wife, portrayed by Miss Evelyn Bachelder; the Commissioner of Police enacted by James Reed; and the maid, played by Miss Jean McLean.

Changes in the cast for tonight's presentation include substitution of Miss Katherien Zachman as "Koong See" and Fred Merchant as "Chang" in "Romance of the Willow Pattern" and, in "Joint Owners in Spain," substitution of Miss Jane Guthery as Miss Blair, Miss Margaret Ferry as Miss Dyer, Miss Jane Bradley as Mrs. Mitchell, and Miss Dorothy Mackan as Mrs. Fullerton.

An overture was furnished by the Harding High School Orchestra, directed by Howard M. Temple, school music supervisor. Others assisting with the presentation were E. H. Shade, faculty business manager, Homer Messenger, assistant student manager, John Waddell, stage manager, Julian Walker, assistant stage manager and Miss Veda Walsh and James Shipley, advertising managers. Platform and scenes were constructed by students of the vocational department under C. Rensch and L. H. Rieker and other stage accessories were made by the domestic art students under Miss Priscilla Smith.

TWO STOLEN AUTOS RECOVERED IN CITY

Machines of E. E. Schorr and C. A. Klunk Are Found by Police

Joyriders continued their activities in Marion last night by taking two cars, both of which were recovered by police this morning. E. E. Schorr, 150 Merchant-av, reported to the police shortly after 10 o'clock last night that someone had taken his Overland sedan from the city lot at Church and Prospect-sts, where he had parked it shortly before 8 o'clock. The machine was found on Bellefontaine-av.

A Hudson coach belonging to C. A. Klunk, proprietor of Hotel Marion, taken from near the intersection of Bill and Prospect-sts sometime between 8 and 12 o'clock, was found on Mill-st east of Prospect by the police this morning. Both cars showed evidence of having been driven a considerable distance.

That the Studebaker roadster belonging to Dwight Peer, 880 Kenton-av, and which was taken from of S. Vine-st and the Chevrolet sedan the property of W. A. Wylie, 291 Willow-st, taken Tuesday night, might have been taken by thieves instead of joyriders is the belief of police, as neither car has been recovered.
